FORMER WORLD NO 1 BACK FOR GOOD?

Srikanth's resurgence in 2021 could yet be one of the sporting stories of the year. After failing to qualify for the Olympics, the former World No 1 has strung together impressive performances. He's No 3 in the 'Race to Guangzhou' standings. Free of injuries, his big weapons, net play and the jump smash, are working. It's now a question of consistency.

Shivaji statue desecration: 7 held in B'luru

5 arrested in B'gavi for damaging public property

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru, Belagavi

IN all, 12 miscreants – seven in Bengaluru and five in Belagavi -- were arrested in connection with the desecration of statues and vandalising public property over the last three days.

The Sadashivanagar police in Bengaluru arrested seven members of a pro-Kannada organisation for blackening the statue of Chhatrapati Shivaji near Bashyam Circle on Friday morning. Investigations revealed that the accused resorted to the act to retaliate against the burning of a Kannada flag in Kolhapur of Maharashtra on Tuesday.

In Belagavi, five miscreants were arrested late on Saturday night for stone-throwing and vandalising public property. Over the last two days, Belagavi was tense after the Bengaluru incident and some miscreants had vandalised a statue of Sangolli Rayanna in retaliation. Mobs had gone on the rampage and attacked government vehicles and KSRTC buses. Till now, 32 miscreants have been arrested, while tight police bandobast continues in sensitive areas of the city. As a precautionary measure, prohibitory orders under Section 144 of CrPC too have been extended till December 22.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (Law and order) Dr Vikram Amte said, "Anyone involved in violating the law and order by throwing stones and insulting statues of personalities will be arrested. A special team has been formed to collect the CCTV footage and to find the accused behind these acts."

The Bengaluru incident had triggered protests by various Maratha outfits across the state. The Sadashivanagar police had registered a case of mischief and under provisions of the Prevention of Damage to Public Property Act.

Second case of lynching at Sikh shrine in Punjab

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

A day after a youth was beaten to death over an alleged attempt at sacrilege at the Golden Temple in Amritsar, a youth was on Sunday lynched at a gurdwara in the Kapurthala for allegedly disrespecting the Nishan Sahib (Sikh flag) there.

The second person was killed in the presence of a police team led by a Senior Superintendent of Police and two SPs. Assumed to be a migrant labourer, his alleged sacrilege was spotted around 4 am at a gurdwara in Nizampur village in Kapurthala district. Gurdwara caretaker Amarjit Singh said he saw the youth desecrating the Sikh flag but managed to hide as there was a power cut. He was caught after power was restored.

Enraged locals lodged him in a room in the gurdwara and demanded that he be questioned before them in the shrine itself instead of taking him to the police station. After heated arguments with representatives of Sikh outfits over the custody of the youth, the police broke into the room where the youth was lodged. Sikh activists followed and in the ensuing scuffle the mob attacked the youth with a sword. He later succumbed to his injuries in a hospital.

Senior Superintendent of Police, Kapurthala, Harkamalpreet Singh Khakh, said: "The mob broken open the window of the room where the suspect was lodged and assaulted him. Police personnel were also manhandled; three of them suffered injuries. As per initial investigation, sacrilege has not been established. It seems theft was the motive."

Inspector General of Police Gurinder Singh Dhillon said there was no visible evidence of sacrilege at the Kapurthala gurdwara.

CM Charanjit Singh Channi on Sunday visited Amritsar's Golden Temple, where the first incident happened. He saw an ulterior motive by some "inimical forces or agencies" ahead of the state polls early next year.

A special investigation team has been formed to probe the Amritsar case and submit a report in two days. The police registered FIRs in both cases, but there was no clarity on cases over the deaths. The identities of both victims, too, are yet to be established.

Kerala rocked by 2 political killings

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Alappuzha

KERALA'S Alappuzha district was shocked on Sunday by two political revenge killings within a span of 12 hours. One of the victims was a leader from the SDPI and the other from the BJP.

Around 8 pm on Saturday, Social Democratic Party of India's state secretary K S Shan, 39, died after a gang attacked him near Mannanchery. On Sunday morning, the BJP's OBC Morcha state secretary Renjith Sreenivasan, 40, was hacked to death in front of his mother at his home at Vellakinar. District police chief G Jaydev said the killings were connected, indicating that they could be retaliatory in nature. IGP Harshitha Attalluri, who is leading the probe into the violence, said as many as 50 people have been taken into custody, including SDPI and RSS activists and two who had arranged the vehicle for those who attacked Shan.

As the situation remained volatile, with both SDPI and RSS camps organising protest marches, District Collector A Alexander clamped Section 144 in the district on Sunday and Monday. The collector has also convened an all-party meet in Alappuzha on Monday. The murders evoked strong reactions, with Governor Arif Mohammed Khan saying that such political killings are a disgrace to Kerala and reflect the devaluation of democracy. Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan promised stern action by the police. P7

Re-exam for KPSC aspirants on Dec 29

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE candidates, who missed their general paper for the PWD assistant engineer posts on December 14 at centres in Bengaluru as Bidar-Yesvantpur and Mumbai-Sangolli Rayanna Railway Station Udyan Express trains ran late, will be able to appear for re-exam on December 29.

The Karnataka Public Service Commission (KPSC), which held the exams, issued an order on Sunday that all the other candidates who missed their morning paper due to train delays too will be allowed to sit for the re-exam. The KPSC had stated on December 15 that the opportunity would be given only to 500-plus aspirants who missed their exams in Kalaburagi due to massive delays suffered by two trains. TNIE had on December 18 highlighted the agony of nearly 200 students arriving from Kalyana Karnataka region to Bengaluru who missed their exams because of the same reason. The commission has asked these candidates to send photocopies of their hall tickets and train tickets to it before December 22.

Home buyers submit plea to CMO for relief

Highlights various issues with implementation of RERA, including lack of action taken against erring builders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HOME buyers submitted a memorandum to Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai's office to rectify the shortcomings of the Karnataka Real Estate Regulatory Authority (K-RERA).

Several home buyers, as part of the Karnataka Home Buyers Forum, visited Town Hall on Saturday to present a memorandum to the CM, who was attending a book release event there. The home buyers also spoke to BJP National General Secretary B L Santhosh regarding the implementation of RERA in the state.

The memorandum highlighted various issues with the implementation of RERA, including inadequate action taken against builders who were repeat offenders, asking for penalties to be levied or arrests to be made against them. The forum suggested that a proper timeline be set to deal with pending cases since the Authority's inception. In addition, they asked for background checks to be made on builders before project approval and more transparency regarding RERA processes.

The home buyers also visited the K-RERA offices to follow up on a memorandum submitted to the Authority on December 4. They spoke to K-RERA member D Vishnuvardhan Reddy, who advised them on the various processes RERA is involved with, as well as on ensuring them that their complaints will be resolved quickly.

He also informed that K-RERA had recommended the Karnataka Government to set up a bench to address complaints pertaining to delay interest that is yet to be paid to home buyers. "He advised us to submit individual, rather than group applications, and suggested that we also appeal to the government with regard to setting up of a separate bench or tribunal to deal with delayed interest complaints," said Dhananjaya Padmanabhachar, a forum member.

Several home buyers had faced numerous issues when dealing with builders, including non-compliant projects, projects that had been delivered years after the promised date and abandonment of projects altogether. Members also accused builders of obtaining completion and occupancy certificates from RERA under false pretenses.

NEVERENDING WOES

A blame game has started over the poor condition of city roads

Smog hugs city, thanks to dust from roads

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru:

WITH winter setting in, the skies are full of yellow smog, a result of fog and a dusty city, leaving many citizens worried about their health.

Dust is rising up from the city's unswept roads. With pourakarmikas shying away from their duty, and mechanical sweepers not being used because of poor road conditions, it is commuters and pedestrians who have to contend with the dust.

Once again, a blame game has started over the poor condition of city roads. This time, between two sections of the same department – solid waste management against road engineering section of the BBMP.

A senior BBMP official said that since most of the roads are potholed or cut open, mechanical sweepers cannot be used. Areas where roads are tarred, are being swept regularly. Citizens will have to tolerate areas where the roads are bad, the official said.

"Many citizens point out that the roads are very dusty, making it difficult for commuters and even worse for pedestrians. A number of complaints have come in, but we are also unable to do much because of the bad road conditions. We are asking road engineers to complete work and clear the jelly stones, but this only makes matters worse. The road conditions also lead to a lot of vehicular emissions, so there is dust on city roads through the day," the SWM section official said.

The BBMP has not acted upon short- and medium-term goals prepared by the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board. It had listed maintaining city roads and emission levels as a short-term goal to improve the city's ambient air quality.

Suburban Rail stations to turn hangout spots

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE 57 railway stations along the city's Suburban Rail network extending to 148.17 km are set to emerge as activity hubs and hangout spaces, with urban green spaces on the lines of Kempegowda International Airport, to enhance the appeal of their neighbourhoods.

Amit Garg, Managing Director of Karnataka Rail Infrastructure Development Agency (K-RIDE) readying the Rs 15,767-crore Bengaluru Suburban Rail Project (BSRP), told The New Indian Express, "We are looking at making the stations the centre of activities which will enhance the ambience of the area. Outlets for food and beverage, shopping, entertainment, work hubs, bright lights and even reading spaces could figure in these multi-storeyed air-conditioned spaces with glass exteriors."

The stations and trains are set to recreate an ambience akin to Namma Metro with the automatic fare collection gates too. Stressing on the attraction of the stations, he said, "Anyone walking nearby should feel drawn to step in and partake of the activities inside."

"If the need arises, we can acquire some land near the stations," he said.

Environment-friendly features have also been incorporated. Landscapes would use recycled water. "Every station will have a sewage treatment plant that would cater to water needs. Solar panels will be installed to meet energy requirements," he added.

He is confident that the first set of stations would be ready by December 2024. The proposal by K-RIDE has to be approved by the board headed by the chief secretary.

The first plan for the Suburban Rail project was raised on November 23 this year. It involved the construction of an 8-km viaduct line, road under bridges, road over bridges and utility diversions for the Baiyappanahalli-Yeshwanthpur-Chikkabanavara corridor (Malige corridor). The line will have 14 stations and the technical bid will be opened on January 10, 2022. "The tender for the Heelalige-Rajanakunte Line (Kanaka corridor) will be called by March next year," Garg said.

The Kengeri-Cantonment-Whitefield (Parijata corridor) and the KSR Bengaluru-Devanahalli (Sampige) form the remaining corridors. BSRP has set a deadline of 2026.

BANGALORE LIT FESTIVAL

Conversations of comfort: Dealing with Covid pain and loss

ISHRATH MUBEEN H
@ Bengaluru

EXCITED groups rushing from one event to another, walking into favourite authors, browsing through books and sipping latte... the masked crowd was back at the 10th edition of the Bangalore Literature Festival held on December 18 and 19, at Bangalore International Centre (BIC). It was these experiences that the lockdown had stolen for two years.

Of the many sessions held on Sunday, 'The Language of Grief' spoke about those struggling to cope with the loss of a beloved. Covid struck everyone. And those who lost their loved ones to the pandemic are still attempting to accept their absence.

Learning to come to terms with the death of her husband by suicide, Dr Nandini Murali, a gender and diversity professional and a certified life coach, spoke about her journey towards acceptance. Dr Murali, who authored 'Left Behind: Surviving Suicide Loss', says that writing the book was challenging due to the chaotic state of mind.

"I read every book on suicide and grief to learn everything about it. A year later, when I wrote, I realised that we all have choices — saying no to victimisation, and to learn to thrive and not just survive," she said, adding that it took a lot for her to slay the demons on her way to transformation, mostly those within.

On dealing with the loss, the author says that seeking closure is illusive. "It is like a life-altering event occurs, and then you neatly package it, put it behind you and move on with life. There is never really a sense of closure following the loss of a dear one. It is acceptance that helps instead -- a less violent word, a stage of grace," she said.

Stutee Ghosh, RJ and one of the panelists, says that not being able to bid your family member farewell, like you wanted to, is heart-wrenching. However, the response to her podcast 'Mera Wala Grief' surprised her.

"Not all of us got the chance to bid them a farewell like we wanted to. And although everyone deals with the loss in their unique ways, the fact that we share a similar pain is the common thread that brought us together. It is unusually comforting that there is someone out there who has gone through the same experience," she said.

20th December: We're now moving into a brief Aquarian phase. This is good luck for Aquarians, so we can all be envious of them. But all of us, no matter what our sign, can learn from some of this sign's lessons, chief of which is not to be taken in by first appearances. Everything comes with a range of wider possibilities, and Aquarians can usually tell us what it is!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Much has been written about your profes-sional hopes and ambitions over the past year or so. Now those of you climbing the career ladder may at last expect your aspirations to be satisfied. Yet over the next twelve months it's your social goals which gradually take over.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Once again the planetary alignment is extraordinarily favourable, and one area of your life which stands to benefit is your relationships with children. There may even be news of an addition to the family before long. And you may be hoping for more, and well-deserved, luxury and space.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
For the next five days the stars are superb for all those involved in property deals, whether selling or buying. If you're not planning a move, at the very least you can get on with domestic improvements. Plus, your relationships with children are set to gradually improve.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The general tone of the times is optimistic although, as always, there is a chance that your hopes could be raised too high. Make a point of pushing your ideas forward and try to persuade partners that your plans are best. Otherwise, you'll face a delay of at least a month.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You may expect your hard work and efforts to be rewarded financially, perhaps through extra savings, perhaps as a result of increased earnings. Such good fortune may not take place today but you should have seen your efforts bear fruit within six days.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
When the Sun encounters Jupiter on its way from Neptune to Pluto, the only response that is justified is one of wonderment at all that life has to offer. To fully appreciate just how well you are doing, you must raise your sights from routine drudgery.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Friends must now be seeing important questions in a new light. It is amazing, is it not, how easy you find it to persuade people that you are right? You must, though, make an almighty effort to please. But, then, that is what you're so good at anyway!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
There's much happening that is difficult to explain. However, rather than flounder around in a sea of confusion, may I suggest that you leave all vague and muddled questions on one side for the time being. That way you'll be free to focus on spiritual matters.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
For the next six days your planets point to one conclusion: all your past professional and financial efforts and struggles are soon to be rewarded in such a manner as to show you that it was all worth while. It also looks very much as if you are about to make a financial break-through.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You still have a great deal to gain from other people, though not necessarily in a material sense. You have much to learn, for example, in terms of having the courage of your convictions and the determination to stick to what you know to be right and proper.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You're not alone in believing that financial affairs are essentially mysterious and impossible to explain. Yet this week you must have faith that developments, of which you may as yet be completely unaware, are in your best interests. That, briefly, is the only way to make sure that the future works out in your favour.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There are still one or two conflicts in the air but, while partners are likely to be irritable, you are capable of being quite short-tempered yourself. This week is the time for some of your famous tolerance. Only you can really gauge how close partners are really feeling.

IISc to conduct study on third wave, fears over Omicron

Researchers propose genome sequencing for all those testing Covid-19 positive

CHETANA BELAGERE
@ Bengaluru

THE Technical Advisory Committee (TAC) has accepted a proposal from a team of researchers from the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) to conduct a study to optimally streamline testing procedures, in preparation of a possible third wave, and fears over the new viral variant, Omicron.

The study, which is planned to be conducted with virologists and experts from the genome sequencing committee, will include genome sequencing on all those found to be positive through RT-PCR tests, while reporting a CT value of less than 25.

During an RT-PCR test analysis, lab researchers keep an eye on the DNA strand of the Covid-19-causing virus, SARS-CoV-2, which goes through several polymerase chain reaction (PCR) cycles till it replicates itself, which is referred to as cycle threshold (CT) value. The Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) has set CT value of 35 as the limit. If it is below 35, it is 'positive', and above that is 'negative'. A CT value of 25 would indicate stronger viral presence.

The team of IISc researchers and accompanying experts have proposed to conduct genome sequencing tests for those reporting positive with a lower CT value to accurately pick out those with higher viral load for immediate treatment to mitigate Covid-19 spread.

The proposal, which was put out as a presentation at a recently held TAC meeting also aims at conducting neutralisation studies using the stored serum (sera) from the serosurveys on the lab-grown Omicron virus culture.

According to a presentation made by Prof Siva Athreya and Prof R Sundaresan of IISc, while there are several reasons why such a study is required, the scientists felt that currently the sampling strategy for testing may be leading to a bias in estimation of active infection. They have stated that the sampling designs used may not be reflecting the true infected population. For instance, individuals with strong symptoms are more likely to be tested than those with no symptoms, resulting in biased estimates of prevalence (too high).

"There is a need to design and implement a sampling strategy to reduce the bias," the experts stated in the proposal.

The study will also use data from earlier sentinel surveys sites used for the already conducted sero surveys and collect swabs from those people and do RT-PCR testing.

"It (the study) will provide valuable information to the state and enable it in identifying breakthrough infection rate and help assess level of vulnerability to Omicron in the population," the proposal stated.

The members of TAC, after discussing the proposal in detail, recommended that the Department of Health and Family Welfare should provide necessary support and data requested after necessary approvals.

Sources said, the study by IISc and experts is expected to begin in the next few weeks.

K'taka reports 300 fresh Covid cases

DK district aims to achieve 100 pc first-dose vax coverage by Dec-end

DAKSHINA Kannada district health department has set a target of achieving 100 per cent first-dose vaccination coverage in the district by this month-end amid five cases of Omicron registered in two clusters.

Dakshina Kannada has completed administering 94 per cent of the first dose. Dr Rajesh, RCH officer of the district for vaccination, told The New Indian Express that the district has completed 94 per cent of firstdose vaccination and many people are still negligent.

"There was a target of completing the vaccination by December. But there are many people who are still taking the first dose. So, it will take another three months for them to take the second dose. Most of the people who are yet to get jabbed are in the category of 18 to 45 years. They are negligent, assuming that nothing will happen to them even if not vaccinated as positive cases of Covid-19 have come down," he said.

Meanwhile, the department held a meeting with non-governemntal organisations on Saturday to help complete vaccination.

UNICEF, zilla panchayat and Dakshina Kannada health department staff are training members of various NGOs to convince and motivate people to get vaccinated.

In this regard, Samarthana Foundation held vaccination for 55 homeless people at Nehru Maidan on Saturday.

Exclusive ward set up for Omicron in Ballari hosp

VIMS Hospital in Ballari

WITH the district reporting 18 new cases of Covid-19 in the past ten days, the administration has decided to open up two additional wards for treatment and possible emergencies. A separate ward has also been created at the district hospital to treat patients with the Omicron variant.

"It's a precautionary measure being taken in the wake of new cases and the variant. During the first and second waves of the pandemic, Ballari and Vijayanagara districts have handled the situation well, and we want to keep the team on alert," said an official.

"At present, there is no sudden increase in new Covid-19 cases, but in the past ten days, more than 20 cases were reported. Hence, the administration decided to reserve wards at VIMS Hospital. The administration started taking steps soon after cases started rising recently. Checks on borders, testing and vaccination drives are being taken seriously," said a senior health official.

A dedicated ward to treat Omicron patients is equipped with high-end facilities. All three wards have oxygen supply and backup.

The doctors are on alert though there have been no cases of Omicron in Ballari and Vijayanagara districts.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

Sahi jawab? Santhosh corrects Wiki

Central Information Commissioner Uday Mahurkar planned to release his book 'Veer Savarkar — The Man Who Could Have Prevented Partition' in New Delhi, as he felt it was the apt diaspora, having been affected by the Partition, but BJP general secretary B L Santhosh convinced him to release it in cosmopolitan Bengaluru. "If he had done it in the national capital, he would have got grey hair and bald heads for his audience. Here, it's heads full of black hair, and they are the future," Santhoshji remarked on a lighter note, at the book release event at Town Hall on Saturday evening. "Like Savarkar, there was one patriot, a Muslim in Kashmir, who misguided the Pakistani Army which was trying to invade and capture Srinagar airport. I forgot his name, which I should not have," he said, struggling to recall the name. Help came from one of the organisers, who swiftly googled for the answer — Maqbool Sherwani— and showed his cellphone to Santhosh. "Wikipedia mentions it as Pakhtoon tribesmen who tried to capture Srinagar, but the fact is that it was the Pakistani Army," he said, correcting Wikipedia.

BJP hijacks Congress slogan

Catchy slogans can help, or harm, political parties fighting elections on the basis of principles and ideologies. The Congress came up with a sharp one for the Kalaburagi-Yadgir local body election to the Legislative Council: it asked voters whether they would vote for a 'Hanavanta' (rich by money) or a 'Gunavanta' (rich by heart). But this slogan boomeranged on the Congress after the BJP hijacked it, and asked voters as well as the Congress whether being rich is a sin, and whether a rich candidate cannot have a rich heart; also, if a person raided by the IT department can be called rich of purse or heart. The BJP then went to list examples of their candidate's richness, saying he had helped many people, and was also contributing to Anna Dasoha in temples, and feeding the poor. Result: 'Hanavanta-cum-Gunavanta' won the election by a narrow margin.

Araga sleeps right through suicide drama

Post a stormy session in Belagavi, Home Minister Araga Jnanendra returned to Bengaluru on Friday evening, and boarded the Mysuru-Talaguppa Express to his hometown Shivamogga, from KSR Station, Bengaluru. All was well until the train reached the outskirts of Tumakuru around midnight. Suddenly, to the passengers' surprise, the loco pilot applied the brakes, alighted and ran to where a middle-aged woman was lying on the tracks, ready to end her life. The pilot, along with Railways staffers, finally convinced her to abandon thoughts of suicide, and return home. Police personnel escorting Araga on board, who were witness to the drama, heaved a sigh of relief. The minister, deep in sleep, was oblivious to the nocturnal goings-on. "We are grateful to the loco pilot as running over a human being, that too near the station, could have disturbed him," remarked a policeman.

BOMMAI TALKS TOUGH, SAYS STRICT ACTION AGAINST VANDALS

'Won't tolerate those insulting patriots; Shivaji & Sangolli Rayanna both fought for freedom'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Sunday appealed to people to respect iconic personalities and avoid lending ears to rumours, after miscreants targeted statues of freedom fighter Sangolli Rayanna and Chhatrapati Shivaji in Belagavi and Bengaluru, respectively.

Tension prevailed in Belagavi bordering Maharashtra on Saturday after alleged activists of Maharashtra Ekikarana Samiti (MES) vandalised the statue of Sangolli Rayanna, a 19th century icon who fought against the Britishers, at Angol in Belagavi, following news that a statue of Chhatrapati Shivaji was desecrated in Bengaluru. "I appeal to people to respect patriots. They had laid down their lives for the nation. As a mark of respect, the statues of Kittur Rani Chennamma, Sangolli Rayanna and Shivaji Maharaj were built. We have to respect them and retain their dignity," Bommai said.

"Be it Chatrapati Shivaji, Kittur Rani Chenamma or Veera Sangolli Rayanna, all of them fought against colonial forces for the country's freedom," he had tweeted earlier."Insulting any of our great national leaders in the name of language politics is disservice to their nationalistic spirit and will not be tolerated. Under no circumstances will we let miscreants disrupt law and order in Karnataka," Bommai said. He asked people not to mix other issues to demean the contribution of historical figures. "Our government will not tolerate anyone insulting the patriots and disturbing law and order in the state. Convey your sentiments peacefully. Whoever they are, we will deal with them with iron hand," Bommai told reporters.

Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said strict action has been taken against the miscreants who damaged the statue of Sangolli Rayanna. He said Marathi and Kannada speaking people are living in harmony in areas bordering Belagavi but some miscreants, who are "not even the dust" of great personalities, damaged their statues. He also said that he is in touch with the police in Bengaluru and Belagavi to ensure that law and order is maintained.

Meanwhile, the district administration has clamped prohibitory orders under Section 144 of the CrPC in Belagavi till December 20 morning.

Protests, bandh across Belagavi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

WHILE villagers of Hindalga, Ganeshpur and surrounding areas in Belagavi taluk observed a bandh demanding the arrest of miscreants who desecrated the statue of Chhatrapati Shivaji in Bengaluru, members of Karnataka Rakshana Vedike (KRV) staged a protest at Peeranwadi village demanding action against those who damaged the statue of Sangolli Rayanna at Angol in Belagavi.

Sensing the situation, police tried to convince KRV activists to withdraw their agitation. As they did not stop the agitation, the police detained and released them later. Meanwhile, the statue of Sangolli Rayana that was damaged in Angol was replaced with a new one. A special pooja of the statue was performed on the occasion. Meanwhile, police have filed cases against close to 200 people for the violence that was reported in Belagavi on Friday night. Cases have been filed against them at three different police stations— Khade Bazar, Camp and Market police stations. The arrested include MES leader Shubham Shelke, Sri Rama Sene leader Ramakanth Konduskar and others.

They also burnt an effigy of Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackrey. The police arrested them and released the later.

A peaceful bandh was observed in Hindalga, Ganeshpur and adjoining areas. Police were also deployed in front of the Shiv Sena and MES offices at Ramlingkhind Galli in Belagavi.

NCP slams K'taka CM

THANE: NCP activists on Sunday staged a protest against Karnataka CM Basavaraj Bommai to condemn the alleged desecration of a statue of Chhatrapati Shivaji in Bengaluru recently. They also performed milk 'abhisheka' on statues of Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj in Thane and Ambernath township in Maharashtra. On the occasion, they raised slogans against Karnataka. Speaking to reporters, Thane Guardian Minister and Shiv Sena leader Eknath Shinde said it was not the first time that the national icon Shivaji Maharaj was insulted. ENS

Six accused absconding

"After a technical investigation, seven members of Ranadheera Pade, a pro-Kannada outfit, were arrested. They were picked up based on clues gathered through social media, analysis of CCTV footage, and other evidence. During the preliminary probe, they admitted to painting the statue black to avenge the burning of the Kannada flag in Kolhapur," police said.

The accused are Chethan Gowda, his associates Gurudev Narayana Kumar, Naveen, Varun, Vinod, Arun Darshan and Yogesh, who are cab and autorickshaw drivers and are associated with Randheera Pade. "Investigations found that the accused had conducted a recce of statues in the city and chose the Shivaji statue on Sankey Road. They came in a car, two autos, and three bikes early on Friday morning and painted the statue black. Naveen videographed the act and posted it on social media," the officer added.

While the police seized the vehicles, a ladder, and a can used to carry the black paint, six other accused are still absconding.

CM says no post permanent, triggers exit rumour

CM Basavaraj Bommai greets the gathering at Shiggaon on Sunday

ENS @ Haveri, Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai in an emotional address to the people of his constituency Shiggaon on Sunday said, quite philosophically, nothing in this world is permanent, including positions, fuelling speculation in some quarters that he could be asked to resign from his post soon.

"Nothing is eternal in this world. This life itself is not forever. We don't know how long we will be here in such a situation. These posts and positions too are not forever. I am aware of this fact every moment," he said. There has been speculation that Bommai could be asked to go after BJP's loss in the bypolls to the Hangal Assembly constituency from his home district of Haveri and in the Council polls, where the party managed to win just 11 seats, one short for the majority in the Upper House.

Party sources said Bommai's strongly-worded speech, describing Veer Savarkar as a nuclear bomb during a book release function on Saturday, was to keep the RSS and far-right sections of the party happy. His government's efforts to push the anti-conversion bill during the ongoing Legislature session in Belagavi too is aimed at that. But still, the deciding factor is Bommai's ability to win elections, where he has fallen short, they pointed out.

"I may be a CM, but once I come to Shiggaon and among you, I am just Basavaraj Bommai. That is because only the name Basavaraj is permanent and not the post," he said. He said, "If I live up to your expectations, that's enough for me. I believe that no power is bigger than your love and trust. I try my best not to talk to you in an emotional way, but sentiments overwhelm me after seeing you." Bommai said he is shouldering the big responsibility of planning comprehensive development for the state and responding to the demands of various communities.

The chief minister is reportedly suffering from a knee-related problem, and may undergo treatment abroad, but there was no official word on this.

Sources said that Bommai could be asked to quit after the Shoonya Masa, which will end on January 13. But other sources in the government and those close to Bommai said there would be no change in leadership.

Just five days left, but winter session yet to take up North Karnataka issues

SUNIL PATIL @ Belagavi

THE ten-day winter session of the Legislature, which is going on in Belagavi, was expected to address issues concerning the development of North Karnataka, but no discussion has taken place in the first week of the session.

While less than 50 per cent of the legislators are in attendance, there is no room left to discuss issues of North Karnataka in the remaining five days of the session.

The first week of the session was rocked by land-grabbing allegations against elected representatives of BJP and the 'rape' remark made by senior Congress leader Ramesh Kumar. Opposition members raised questions over crop loss, damage to property due to rain and floods and compensation being paid to those affected in North Karnataka, but there was no positive response from the government.

The government wants to use the remaining five days to pass anti-conversion and love jihad bills. But opposition parties are planning to stall these pieces of legislation in both Houses through protests and forcing adjournments.

The 10-day winter session of the state legislature is being held in Belagavi's Suvarna Vidhana Soudha

Amid this, farmer groups too are planning a massive protest demanding the rollback of farm laws passed by the state. With these possibilities, both Houses may not allocate any time to discuss issues related to North Karnataka.

Belagavi North MLA Anil Benake said, "One week of the session has passed in discussions other than North Karnataka issues. We will see whether these discussions will be taken up from Monday. If not, we will raise our voice and protest demanding the debate."

Some of the major demands of the North Karnataka region are: Execution of the Mahadayi project, which is expected to provide drinking water to Gadag, Dharwad and Belagavi, and pending for the last two decades; implementation of Upper Krishna Project Phase 3 which will irrigate lakhs of hectares of land; shifting of sub-divisional offices to Suvarna Vidhana Soudha to keep it busy and help the people of North Karnataka get their work done quicker; setting up of an IT-BT park in Belagavi, allowing thousands of skilled youth from the region get jobs; suitable compensation to farmers who have suffered huge losses due to heavy and untimely rain; fair and remunerative prices for sugarcane, which is a major cash crop, and payment of dues to farmers; a district status for Chikkodi, which has been pending for a decade; completion of various lift irrigation projects, including Khilegaon project in Athani, Veerabhadreshwara project in Ramdurg, lake refilling projects and others; land acquisition for the Belagavi-Kittur railway line; and construction of Ballari Nala, a major sewage line passing through Belagavi city and setting up of a sewage treatment plant.

Gulihatti Shekhar questions church-goers on conversions

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chitradurga

AN odd sight greeted the public returning from Sunday Mass in Hosadurga — MLA Gulihatti D Shekhar and his followers stood before the church gate in Hosadurga and asked people for their names, village, caste, how long they were coming to church and whether they had got converted.

Shekhar, who wants to prove that conversions are going on in his constituency, was not satisfied with the report submitted by then tahsildar of Hosadurga, Y Thippeswamy, who had said there were no forced conversions in Hosadurga taluk. Shekhar decided to collect information about the conversions on his own, and spoke to people and also filmed their conversations. While some of the people told the MLA that they had been coming to church for past seven to eight years, a woman replied that she has been coming since the Covid-19 outbreak, whereas some of them escaped the MLA's questions. A couple from Devapura Bhovihatti, who belonged to the Bhovi community, fearful about speaking to the MLA, moved away without speaking to him, as did many others.

Shekhar told TNIE, "Even after having a BJP government in the state, officials are not working properly and reports pertaining to religious conversions, prepared by previous tahsildar Thippeswamy, has many flaws."

It may be recalled that in September, Shekhar had alleged on the floor of the assembly that forced conversions were "rampant" in Hosadurga constituency and demanded a detailed probe. The Hosadurga tahsildar conducted a survey in Shanthinagar and Devapura Bhovihatti villages and filed a report on December 1, which stated that no forced conversions had taken place. This contradicted Shekhar's allegations that people from SC, ST and OBC communities were being forcefully converted to Christianity. The report said that 46 families in two villages of the taluk had accepted Christianity on their own. Thippeswamy was transferred last week.

Will implement anti-conversion Bill: BSY

SHIVAMOGGA: Former CM B S Yediyurappa said that the Karnataka Protection of Right to Freedom of Religion Bill-2021 or anti-conversion Bill will be passed in the Legislative Council too. He claimed that the party has a full majority in the house. He also said that it was left to the party high command and CM Bommai to take a call on making his son B Y Vijayendra a minister. "The government is confident on passing the anti-conversion bill in the Council. We will enforce the law for sure," he said. On Cabinet expansion, he said, "I'm not aware of any development."

Tussle over organising a parade by pilgrims

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Tumakuru

CLOSE on the heels of an attack on a Bajrang Dal leader that had triggered tension in October, former minister and BJP leader Sogadu Shivanna here on Sunday allegedly assaulted VHP district president GK Srinivas for not letting him hold a parade of pilgrims heading to Datta Peeta.

Nearly a thousand devotees from RSS and BJP had gathered at the Townhall Circle to board buses. Shivanna, a four-time MLA, insisted that the devotees take out a 2-km padayatra up to Anjaneya Temple at Gubbi Gate, where Bajrang Dal leader Manju Bhargav was attacked on October 19, before they boarded the buses to Datta Peeta in Chikkamagaluru district.

But Srinivas allegedly stopped the devotees, saying no police permission had been taken to take out the march. Shivanna not only badmouthed Srinivas, but also assaulted him.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

RSS man's murder in February the trigger

Nandu Krishnan was hacked to death at Vayalar ten months ago, allegedly by SDPI activists

BIJU E PAUL @Alappuzha

ALAPPUZHA had witnessed many political uprisings and clashes between Communist and Congress activists till many years ago. However, killings by political and communal organisations have been rare of late, which is why people in the district are shocked at the two murders in a span of 12 hours.

Muslim outfits like SDPI and Hindu organisations like BJP-Sangh Parivar are active in a few pockets of the district. Vayalar in Cherthala taluk is one of the strongholds of both organisations. The killing of a RSS worker in the area in February this year is said to be the reason for the attack on SDPI state secretary K S Shan at Mannanchery on Saturday night. The protest rallies organised by both SDPI and RSS during the assembly election campaign ended in a clash. Following this, Nandu Krishnan, an activist of RSS, was hacked to death at Vayalar on February 24. Another activist suffered serious injuries in the attack.

The clash took place in connection with the Vijay Yatra led by BJP state president K Surendran from Kasaragod. Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath had inaugurated the yatra in Kasaragod. The SDPI workers of Vayalar held a protest meeting against Yogi's arrival in the state. To their register protest against SDPI workers, RSS men also took out a protest march, shouting slogans against the outfit. This provoked SDPI workers who took out another protest march. Workers of both organisations threw stones at the houses of rivals over several days, leading to Nandu's murder. The police arrested eight SDPI activists in connection with the case. Since then, both organisations had been lying low in the taluk.

The police suspect that the RSS plotted Shan's murder in retaliation to Nandu's killing.

A meeting of some Hindu organisations was held in Alappuzha on Saturday. The presence of some RSS state leaders at the meeting has created suspicion that they might have had a role in the murder. The police said Shan's murder was planned. "The assailants rented a car to execute the murder. They first knocked down Shan who was returning home on a two-wheeler after closing his shop at Mannanchery before hacking him. The assailants knew of his daily route and attacked him on an empty road," said an officer.

The CCTV footage from a nearby building has helped the police get a lead in the case. "In the footage, Shan's scooter was seen being hit by the car. The occupants came out and unleashed a brutal attack. The police found out that the car's registration number was fake and took the person who helped the gang rent the vehicle into custody," said an officer.

'State seeing bloodbath under Pinarayi govt'

T'Puram: The state leadership of the Congress party on Sunday strongly condemned the violent deaths of SDPI and BJP leaders in Alappuzha. Speaking to TNIE, Leader of Opposition V D Satheesan said the killings could either be over personal vengeance or to create communal unrest, and that the situation was severe if the latter was the case. State Congress president K Sudhakaran, meanwhile, did not mince his words and unleashed a scathing attack on the LDF government, alleging that the state had been witnessing a bloodbath under the government led by Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan. The state's law and order situation is a failure, he said. "During the last election, LDF had hatched a plot to defeat Congress by joining hands with the SDPI and the RSS, who owed allegiance to fascist communal forces."

DMK committed to an alliance with Cong to unseat BJP

S KUMARESAN @Chennai

WHILE West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee and Telangana CM K Chandrasekhar Rao have been trying to stitch together an alliance of regional parties, the DMK has once again made it clear that it is committed to opposing the BJP only in alliance with the Congress. In fact, just days after KCR's meeting with Tamil Nadu CM MK Stalin raised speculation, DMK's LS floor leader TR Baalu said Banerjee, the All India Trinamool Congress (TMC) supremo, should not divide the Opposition against the saffron party, directly or indirectly.

The DMK, which is the third largest party in Parliament, was among the first to declare Congress scion Rahul Gandhi the Opposition's Prime Ministerial candidate for the 2019 LS polls. Reiterating the party's support to the Congress, former union minister Baalu, in an interview to a news agency, said, "Opposition leaders should meet more often to discuss issues related to national politics with mainly one single agenda -- to fight and defeat the BJP." Commenting on Mamata's efforts to stitch together an alliance as an alternative to both the Congress and the BJP, Baalu said, "Her attempts of going solo are not going to yield the desired results for her. Rather it may be of some help for the BJP, the common enemy of the Opposition."

Speaking of strengthening of opposition against the saffron party, Baalu said, "Congress president Sonia Gandhi, NCP chief Sharad Pawar and our very own MK Stalin can bring various Opposition parties to the table to discuss issues related to national politics." He expressed hope the Opposition will emerge as more unified by the presidential polls next year and project a single candidate.

The DMK's commitment to its alliance with the Congress may also been seen in two recent editorials published in party mouthpiece, Murasoli.

Murasoli quoted Rahul Gandhi's comments on Hindutva and his observations on the need to unanimously opposes the BJP.

Both pieces were published after Banerjee's criticism of the Congress-led United Progressive Alliance and before KCR's meeting with Stalin.

Meanwhile, Stalin, who is also party president, came down heavily on the BJP-led Union government on Sunday while addressing the 14th State conference of the Tamil Nadu Government Employees Association. He accused the Union government of treating State governments like a bonded labourers by providing neither GST tax shares nor funds for flood relief.

'Centre must come out with language policy'

ENS @Bengaluru

CONGRESS MLC BK Hariprasad, who during his term in the Rajya Sabha had moved a private member's bill seeking the inclusion of Dravidian languages -- Tulu and Kodava -- into the 8th Schedule, has brought out a book on his speeches on the language and other issues. He had raised the Kodava language issue as there were other speakers, like Oscar Fernandes and Veerappa Moily, who could raise the issue of Tulu in Parliament. His speeches have been translated into Kannada by journalist R Jayakumar in the form of a book, "Tulu, Kodava Bhashegala Alivu Ulivu", which was released on Sunday.

Several Congress leaders -- state working president Ramalinga Reddy, former MLA RV Devaraj, AICC spokesman Brijesh and others -- were present.

Hariprasad said the Centre should present a national language policy.

Writer Purushottam Bilimale spoke of how Kannada, Tulu and Kodava languages are all dying, while Hindi is thriving. He said Sanskrit spoken by 24,000 people received Rs 628 crore, while Kannada received a mere Rs 3 crore and there were no funds for Kodava and Tulu.

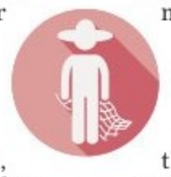
MP Dr L Hanumanthaiyya said, "When a language dies, the culture too dies. Kodavas have no representation to raise issues in Parliament."

Lankan navy arrests 55 Indian fishermen

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Rameswaram

THE Sri Lankan Navy has arrested as many as 55 fishermen from Rameswaram, Thangachimadam and Mandapam since Saturday night.

The Sri Lankan Navy in a statement on Sunday said 43 fishermen (from Rameswaram) were arrested on Saturday night as part of a special operation conducted at Delft Island (Neduntheevu). "The fishermen were arrested for poaching in Sri Lankan waters," the statement said.



In another incident, the Sri Lankan Navy arrested 12 fishermen, who set out on two mechanised boats from Mandapam early in the morning, near Katchatheevu at noon Sunday for crossing the international maritime boundary line.

Expressing concern over the arrests and demanding the Union government's intervention in releasing the Tamil Nadu fishermen and their boats, Chief Minister MK Stalin spoke to the Minister for External Affairs S Jaishankar by telephone. The Union Minister assured immediate action, said a State government statement. In a letter to Jaishankar, Stalin noted that 19 such incidents had occurred in 2021 alone and urged the Union government to secure the release of the 55 fishers and 73 boats in Lankan custody.

Godman, wife held for raping woman since 2016

SAHAYA NOVINSTON LOBO @ Chennai

A godman and his wife were arrested on Saturday for allegedly raping a woman on multiple occasions, starting in 2016 when she was a minor. He is also accused of taking naked photos of her and threatened to upload them if she did not abort after he allegedly impregnated her last year. The accused identified as Sathiya Narayanan and his wife Pushpalatha, who owns the Shirdipuram Sarva Sakthi Peedam Sai Baba Koil temple in the city. Pushpalatha helped the godman Sathiya Narayanan rape the victim when she was 16-years-old, said police. "I stayed with my grandmother in Class 12. We frequented the temple. On April 12, 2016, I was asked to get sacred ash. At the temple, Pushpalatha offered me juice and two hours later I woke up without clothes on a bed with the duo by my side," said the victim in her complaint.

The FIR said Sathiya claimed the victim was burdened with sins and he freed her. Later he allegedly showed her photos taken while she was naked and threatened her. The victim moved and was married in 2018.

In March 2020, when her husband went abroad, Sathiya contacted her again. "He found out I was alone and blackmailed me, or he would send the photos to my husband. I was forced to visit him and he raped me many times in the following months," said the victim.

Tea mosquito bugs infest cashew trees in Udupi

PRAKASH SAMAGA @ Udupi

A phenomenon has been noticed in cashew trees in places like Hattiyangadi, Kenchanoor, Gujjadi, Amparu, Kodladi, Shiroor, Shankaranarayana and Halady among other places in Kundapur wherein the tender shoots, inflorescence are seen infested by tea mosquito bugs. Though this issue of tea mosquito bugs (Helopeltis antonii) existed since many years, this year the infestation appears slightly high.

Tea mosquito bugs, an alien species, have many cashew trees falling prey.

Several cashew growers have vented their ire against the horticulture department officials for not finding any solution even though the infestation is on a large scale.

"About six quintals of yield in an acre of cashew plantation is possible in normal case. But due to the tea mosquito bug infestation, it is difficult even to expect two quintals of yield in an acre of cashew plantation. There has to be a scientific solution for this problem," said Prabhakar Shetty, a cashew grower in Shankaranarayana.

"Even the yield grown under the shade of Tea mosquito bug attack will not be of good quality and it substantially reduces their market value as cashew processing unit will look for high quality kernels," he added.

Tea mosquito bug attack has worried the growers, who are growing cashew on a commercial scale by investing large amounts of money. Chandrashekar Udupa Kenchanoor, director, All India Cashew Growers' Association told TNIE that the growers are already upset as the cashew processing units who are about 200 in numbers in Udupi and DK districts are quoting the price as low as ₹85 per kg.

A cashew tree infested by tea mosquito bug, in Kundapur | EXPRESS

"In 2018, the price was ₹170 per kg. Now understanding that cashew growers have no bargaining power, owners of cashew processing units are quoting that throwaway price," he rued, while adding that tea mosquito bug attack is an additional burden on cashew growers in the region.

Sanjeev Naik, assistant director of horticulture department said that to curb this attack of tea mosquito bug, large-scale efforts should be made as the steps taken by an individual farmer may not be of much use. Research activities are still going on, he added.

POVERTY, IGNORANCE LEADING TO CHILD MARRIAGE

IN another instance, a Class 10 student from Kadakol, in Gadag district, had also complained of many instances of child marriage in her village. Anthony said that child marriage is an indicator of many social issues such as poverty, ignorance, socio-economic conditions, indigenous tribal customs and cultures, lack of access to education, nutrition and school dropouts etc.

"Many girls dropped out of school for lack of toilets. It is a serious issue. The KSCPCR had directed the Deputy Superintendent of Police of Hassan district to file a complaint against the headmaster of a government school, under Section 75 of the Juvenile Justice (JJ) Act, amounting to cruelty against children for lack of toilets for students ," he added.

On the issue of the government's move to raise the marriageable age of girls from 18 years to 21 years, he said that while the intention behind the law is progressive, its implementation would be an issue because the ground reality is very different.

"Girls are married at an early age for various reasons, keeping in mind socio-economic conditions and cultural customs of people. Child marriages are more prevalent in North Karnataka and pockets of Mysuru and Chamarajanagara districts. In tribal communities in HD Kote taluk, many minor girls are married soon after they attain puberty because it is customary to do so. Mass awareness and access to education, skill training and uplift of socio-economic conditions of families should go alongside such legislations to prevent child marriages," he added.

Meanwhile, 'Young Voices' -- a collective of 2,500 young people from 15 states, supported by 96 civil society organisations from across the country in a letter to parliamentarians, has stated that "raising the age at marriage through law would only criminalise -- not prevent -- early marriage". "Merely having a new minimum age of marriage for women at 21 years, without the presence of enabling opportunities in the form of access to higher education and decent job opportunities translates effectively into young women being even more trapped in their natal homes," the collective has added.

The 'Young Voices' added that there is growing evidence that early marriage is the "consequence" of older girls dropping out of school and lacking viable employment opportunities - it does not cause dropouts. "According to several studies, it is the failures and shortcomings of our education system that are prompting our youth -- both boys and girls -- to drop out. Nor does early marriage cause high fertility; in fact, fertility rates have been dropping to below replacement levels in most Indian states, including those with relatively high prevalence of early marriage. Poverty, not early marriage, is the main cause of the ill-health of mothers and their newborns," the collective has added in its letter to lawmakers.

NEED TO ADDRESS PREDICTED POLL TIME COVID SURGE

With mathematical models predicting a Covid third wave peak in the country in February due to the Omicron outbreak, policymakers have their task cut out. February is no ordinary month; it is when elections to the five battleground states of Uttar Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Punjab, Manipur and Goa are due. The BJP has a lot at stake since it is in power in four of the five states. These are the first elections after the Centre was forced to withdraw three controversial farm sector laws in the wake of a year-long agitation. Any major loss could be read as the beginning of the meltdown of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's teflon image, hence his hectic effort to retain political space and exploit cracks in opposition unity. That mass mobilisation breeds Covid clusters is a no-brainer. India's Omicron count may still be in three digits, but as the WHO says, it multiplies in 1.5 to 3 days despite high vaccination density. So there is no room for complacency. The UK on Friday alone added over 10,000 fresh cases of Omicron. European nations like France, Britain and Germany have already raised travel barriers and made masks mandatory, while the Netherlands announced a tough Christmas lockdown.

When the last round of state polls in Bengal, Assam, Kerala, TN and Puducherry happened earlier this year, the Centre's hope of somehow managing the second Covid wave that was building went horribly wrong. And the EC was pilloried for being a paper tiger issuing Covid protocol diktats but not enforcing them. At a different level, Omicron can be expected to make the humongous toll during the second wave, including the undocumented loss of lives due to acute scarcity of medical oxygen, a major talking point in the run-up to polls. Though Omicron's rate of hospitalisation and fatality are not as high as that due to Delta, the fact remains the new variant hasn't yet been fully understood.

Going forward, the Centre and the poll panel must bring in correctives in poll mobilisation and campaigning to make the festival of democracy safe. Was that why the PMO had an irregular meeting with the CEC recently? Calling an all-party meeting to evolve consensus could be the first step.

MEANINGFUL DEBATE MUST ON AP CAPITAL

Battle lines are drawn in Andhra with the entire opposition, including the TDP, BJP, Jana Sena and the Left parties, making a common cause to force the YSRC government to retain Amaravati as the state's sole capital. They have been brought on to one platform by agitating farmers, whose 400-km padayatra culminated in a public meeting on the outskirts of Tirupati. These parties do have their differences. For instance, the BJP is in favour of having the HC in Kurnool and had, in fact, issued a Rayalaseema declaration seeking development of the backward region. The CPI too has no objection to shifting the court to Kurnool. But the TDP is going all out to keep its chief N Chandrababu Naidu's Amaravati dream alive, complete with epic buildings and whatnot.

It is premature to judge whether they will stick together for long. For now, the Jagan Mohan Reddy-led YSRC remains the only champion of the three-capitals proposal for what it calls equitable development of all regions. This is in the political arena. The Amaravati farmers' show of strength has given rise to a backlash from Rayalaseema intellectuals and non-political leaders who organised their own meeting in Tirupati, demanding justice to the region. And we have had discussions along the same lines in North Andhra too. In addition, the Rayalaseema leaders have planned to undertake a padayatra from Kurnool to Amaravati in January. It is becoming increasingly clear that the capital narrative—hitherto confined to Amaravati farmers—is likely to acquire a new dimension with Rayalaseema leaders raising their voice.

The region has been wronged historically though its inclusion was critical for the very formation of Andhra in 1953. It is a fact that it needs irrigation and industrialisation compared to the relatively prosperous delta region. Parties batting for Amaravati should spell out what exactly they want. A city of Naidu's dreams? If so, what about Rayalaseema and North Andhra? The government must also clarify how it intends to pacify Amaravati farmers. Unchecked political rhetoric will only widen the fissures and lead to further divisions in the already divided AP. There must be a meaningful debate on the way forward.

An eminent Indian endocrinologist says that self care is the most important innovation in the management of diabetes since the discovery of insulin

SELF CARE, AN ADVANCING AREA OF MEDICINE

DR K SRINATH REDDY

Cardiologist, epidemiologist & President, Public Health Foundation of India

SOUMYADIP SINHA

The centenary of the discovery of insulin, by a Nobel Prize-winning team of scientists at the University of Toronto, will be celebrated in 2022. Insulin has been used by millions of people with diabetes since then as a life-saving medicine. An eminent Indian endocrinologist says that 'self care' is the most important innovation in the management of diabetes since the discovery of insulin. This applies not only to self-administration of insulin but also the use of testing strips for detection of glucose in urine or blood. It also involves adherence to other medicines, detection and management of hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) and care of feet to avoid diabetic foot ulcers.

The WHO defines 'self care' as "the ability of individuals, families and communities to promote health, prevent disease, and maintain health and to cope with illness and disability with or without the support of a healthcare provider". It is remarkable that the definition is not restricted to individuals but includes support from other laypersons. It also recognises the value of self care even when a healthcare provider is involved.

For self care to be effective, a person should be able to acquire needed competencies and confidence. (S)he should be able to say "I know" (knowledge), "I wish to" (motivation) and "I can" (skills). Since external barriers can exist, they also need to feel "It is possible" (no obstacles to practise what I wish to) and "I will find support when needed" (systems, teams and individuals are available to help). These principles apply at individual, family and community levels. Even when a healthcare provider is engaged, management should involve participatory decision-making rather than a paternalistic prescription driven by information asymmetry.

Self care extends across all aspects of health—from promotion and protection of good health to the prevention, diagnosis, treatment, rehabilitation and palliation of disease and its effects on the body. Adoption of good personal habits (hygiene, sleep, diet, adequate physical activity, yoga, meditation), avoidance of harmful behaviours (consumption of tobacco products, alcohol, ultra-processed foods), use of protective methods (seat belts, helmets, masks, vaccines, safe sex) are all part of self care.

Diagnosing one's illness or a potential risk factor is also part of self care. Is there a breast lump, detected on self-examination, that needs evaluation? Is there a change of bowel habits that calls for investigation of colon cancer? Is there a change in the size of a mole that needs to be checked for a melanoma? Is chest pain or a compressive feeling in the chest signalling an attack of angina or even a heart attack? What are the symptoms and signs of a brain stroke that warrant the seeking of urgent medical attention? Early detection of symptoms and signs, followed by self-referral to a competent care provider, can prevent many complications.

Often treatment can be initiated or continued by a person as part of self care. Chewing and swallowing a tablet of soluble aspirin, when chest pain suggests a developing heart attack, can restore blood supply by disintegrating the clot that is blocking it in the coronary artery. This can be initiated even before rushing to the hospital emergency. Persons with diabetes become adept at injecting themselves with insulin. Adherence to prescribed medicines is important, as is awareness of side effects that may be mild or adverse reactions that may be serious. It is important to recognise spurious medicines and unproven claims of efficacy. Physical rehabilitation after illness or injury requires adherence to diet, exercises or speech therapy.

> Is there a change in the size of a mole that needs to be checked for a melanoma? Is a compressive feeling in the chest signalling an attack of angina or even a heart attack? ... Early detection of symptoms and signs, followed by self-referral to a competent care provider, can help prevent many complications

It is also important to know the rights of patients. While litigation is ideally avoided, human as well as consumer rights may need to be asserted. For an insurance beneficiary, awareness of the scheme's entitlements and limitations is needed as an extended component of self care. When a person is recruited into a health research study, such as a drug or vaccine trial, it is necessary to acquaint oneself with the protocol, possible adverse effects and safety measures.

Self care can extend to support provided by lay members of the family or community. Persons with serious illness or major disability often require such support. At the community level, ensuring sanitary conditions in the locality, prompt garbage disposal, controlling air pollution, making sure that public places are free of tobacco smoke and exhorting people to follow Covid-appropriate behaviour would all amount to collective self care. Patient support groups are valuable resources for extending care while patient advocacy groups are effective in advocating causes such as assured access to essential medicines at affordable prices.

Self care redefines the construct of medical care by enrolling the patient, family and community as partners to the physician in defining and delivering appropriate care that is designed to a person's needs. This is a philosophy embedded in many traditional systems of medicine but modern medical systems are now beginning to recognise its democratic spirit and respect its strength in delivering better health outcomes.

VIOLATIONS OF 1970 U.N. CONVENTION BY U.S. MUSEUMS

S VIJAY KUMAR

Co-founder, India Pride Project and author of The Idol Thief

The idol-collecting cabal has been increasingly critical of many much-needed actions by states including criminal prosecutions and civil forfeiture of stolen property in recent years. What is baffling is that these are conditions that these nations have agreed upon when they signed the 1970 UNESCO Convention on the Means of Prohibiting and Preventing the Illicit Import, Export and Transfer of Ownership of Cultural Property. The Convention urges "States Parties to take measures to prohibit the trafficking of cultural property and provides a common framework on the procedures to prevent their import and export".

With specific reference to restitution, Articles 7 and 13 of the UNESCO Convention provide the relevant provisions. For objects inventoried and looted from a museum or public or religious monument, Article 7 provides that states should "undertake appropriate measures to seize and return any cultural property stolen and imported". Article 13 states that parties are responsible at the national level in terms of restitution and cooperation. According to UNESCO, "The return and restitution of cultural property is central to the Convention and its duty is not only to remember but to fundamentally safeguard the identity of peoples ..."

The US has increasingly been looked upon as a trailblazer with proactive and aggressive action—mainly due to high-profile seizures, especially by the NYC district attorney's office—to tackle the illicit antiquities market. We highlight the cases of two museums in the US and how they continue to blatantly violate the basic tenets of the UN statute.

First, let us look at The Walters Art Museum. Gary Vikan, former director of the museum and columnist, in his piece 'Why US museums and the antiquities trade should work together', starts off interestingly: "For years, the AAMD [Association of Art Museum Directors] required of its members that they only 'not knowingly' acquire or accept as gifts works of art that had been exported from their country of origin in violation of national laws." So how did the museum accept the Krishna with butterballs sculpture from the now arrested and indicted art dealer Subash Kapoor in 2004 without any paperwork beyond 1981, long after the UNESCO Convention? And the museum still continues to hold it!

More interesting is the provenance of an amazing 10th century bronze of Shiva and Parvati, which as per the museum's own provenance disclosure makes for a rather sad reading: "Bashir Antiquities, New Delhi; purchased by John and Berthe Ford, Baltimore, February 1989; given to Walters Art Museum, 2008." This means it was acquired in Delhi in 1989 in blatant violation of India's Antiquities and Art Treasures Act, 1972, which the museum was aware of.

There are more obvious red flags in the following acquisitions:

A Dancing Ganesha from Uttar Pradesh that the museum says is from the 9th/10th century. The provenance reads: "Ramesh Kapoor [brother of the arrested Subash], New York; purchased by John and Berthe Ford, New York, July 25,1983; given to Walters Art Museum, 2004." Note that there is no provenance prior to 1983.

A 9th century sandstone Ganesha with an even stranger provenance (or the lack of it): "Mr. and Mrs. John G. Ford, Baltimore [date and mode of acquisition unknown]; Walters Art Museum, 1987, by gift". We had a big ceremony to welcome the over-100-years-old Annapoorna in Varanasi in November and here we have a 11th century Saraswati, from the same place, acquired by The Walters Art Museum from known and self-confessed smuggler William Wolff with a strange question mark in its own admission. The provenance reads: "Present in Varanasi, India (?); acquired by William Wolff, New York; purchased by Walters Art Museum, 1969."

The UN website for the 1970 Convention has this interesting reference that is useful to debate the above case: "For cases of return ... that do not fall under the preceding provisions, such as objects stolen from private property or coming from illicit excavations or not yet listed, bilateral negotiations between States are encouraged ... . The UNESCO Intergovernmental Committee (ICPRCP) can also be solicited to facilitate bilateral negotiations between States concerning requests for the return and restitution of cultural property. The return or restitution of cultural property will therefore be carried out in the spirit of the 1970 Convention."

Vikan, in the column mentioned earlier adds: "A final, decisive blow to America's antiquities-collecting ecosystem came in 2008 with the rewrite of the AAMD's acquisition guidelines, which now includes this critical passage: 'AAMD members normally should not acquire a work unless research substantiates that it was outside the country of probable modern discovery before 1970.'" That is, they are still not willing to follow the spirit of the UN Convention and are hiding behind the 'before 1970' fig leaf.

Now take the case of The San Diego Museum of Art. The museum's policy on accepting donations starts with these lines: "All donations must undergo curatorial review before being accepted", and ends with, "If the object is accepted for the collection and the donor wishes to declare it as a tax deduction, the donor is responsible for obtaining a third-party appraisal."

Now take a look at the list of some of the art works donated by Mr and Mrs Vilayanur Ramachandran: Shri Devi (14th century, Karnataka); Shiva Bhikshatana (18th century, Tamil Nadu); Brahma (11th century, Rajasthan); chariot bracket with horsemen (18th century, TN); chariot panel with Krishna and the Gopis (18th century, TN); sandstone Ganesha (11th century, Rajasthan); Garuda (17th century); infant Krishna crawling and holding a butter ball (17th century, Karnataka); Bronze Deepalakshmi (Paavai Vilakku, 17th century, TN); Granite Ganesha (12th/13th century, TN) (all details according to the museum's own website).

It is shocking that none of these have even a pre-2000 provenance, except one and even in that case, there are no acquisition details. Will the museum publish the curatorial review for any of these acquisitions and also clarify if any tax benefits were availed by the donor?

Ganesha from UP (9th/10th century) in The Walters Art Museum, whose provenance begins a decade after 1970 and was initially with Ramesh Kapoor (brother of the arrested Subhash); Shri Devi from Karnataka (14th century), gifted by V S Ramachandran and his wife to The San Diego Museum of Art. Accession number indicates it was gifted in 2012; there is no other provenance detail

Arrest Omicron spread

India has reported over 140 confirmed cases of the new Omicron variant. Prevention is always better than cure, and the Centre and states must continue to take concerted action to arrest the spread. Self-discipline and faster vaccination are the need of the hour.

Welcome decision

The decision to raise the marriage age of women from 18 to 21 is wise. It is a good move for women's health as well as dignity. Those who are raising imaginary concerns are not sincere; they are just trying to gain political mileage, which may not be successful.

Will help women, society

The opposition's objection to raising the legal age of marriage is sheer vote bank politics. The girl, family and society as a whole will benefit immensely. To argue that the risks of premarital sex increase if marriage is delayed is one among many reasons given that are products of imagination or male chauvinism.

Schools shut in Bengal

It is disheartening to read about many state-aided junior high schools in West Bengal being shut down due to the enrolment count of students being zero. While steps are being taken to increase literacy in the country, the enrolments are falling in Bengal. One wonders if this means CM Mamata Banerjee is only bothered about her prime ministerial candidature from now on and not about the problems in her state.

S Anantharaj Abraham, Chennai

Lessons for BJP in K'taka

Overconfidence, experimentation, neglecting the seniors and their opinions, and projecting an inexperienced person as the leader for the Assembly elections led to a subpar performance for the ruling BJP in the recent Karnataka Legislative Council elections. The increase in the number of the party's winning candidates was solely because of the former chief minister. The BJP high command should analyse the losses and mend fences with the seniors who have been sidelined.

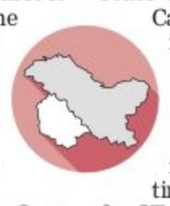
DELIMITATION PANEL MAY SHARE REPORT AT CRUCIAL MEET TODAY

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

ALL eyes are on the December 20 meeting convened by the Delimitation Commission with its five associate members from Jammu and Kashmir. The meeting assumes significance as the commission is set to share its findings on redrawing boundaries of Assembly seats and the list of reserved constituencies in J&K with the five Lok Sabha members from the Union Territory.

All the five MPs — BJP's Jugal Kishore and MoS PMO Dr Jitendra Singh, and National Conference's Farooq Abdullah, Justice (Retd) Hasnain Masoodi and Mohammad Akbar Lone — would be attending the meeting.

The NC parliamentarians had skipped the earlier meeting of associate members convened by the commission in February this year by saying that the delimitation exercise is taking place under the J&K Reorganisation Act, which the party and some others have challenged in the Supreme Court.



Sources said the Delimitation Commission could share documents on redrawing of 90 Assembly seats in J&K with the associate members. The commission has also identified the seats to be reserved for Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in J&K and could share the details with the associate members also, the sources said. The delimitation exercise is crucial as its completion will lead to holding of elections in the UT.

Tenure ends in March 2022

The Delimitation Commission headed by Justice (Retd) Ranjana Prakash Desai was formed by the Centre last year. The commission was tasked to complete the delimitation exercise by March 2021 but was granted a year's extension in view of Covid-19 situation in the country in 2020.

Why delimitation?

After the repeal of Article 370 and bifurcation of J&K state into two UTs by the enactment of Jammu and Kashmir Reorganisation Act 2019, the J&K Assembly's strength rose from 107 to 114 including 24 seats for PoK. Two women MLAs will be nominated to the House, which was the position earlier also. The delimitation exercise is being carried out as per 2011 census. As per 2011 census, J&K had a total population of 12,541,302. Of this Kashmir had 6,888,475 while Jammu had 5,350,811 population.

Reservation for SC, ST

In the erstwhile J&K Assembly, seven seats were reserved for Scheduled Castes but no seat was reserved for Scheduled Tribes. Now, after enactment of the J&K Reorganisation Act, seven seats in the Assembly would be reserved for SCs and 10-11 seats for STs. It would be for the first time that seats would be reserved for STs and this would force the parties to change their strategies.

Will Pandits get reservation?

The big question is whether the Delimitation Commission would also reserve some seats for Kashmiri Pandits who migrated en masse from Kashmir after eruption of militancy in 1990 and are living in Jammu, Delhi and other parts of the country. Although the Act does not provide for any reservation to the migrant Pandits, the commission would also be seriously looking into the ways and means to give due representation to the community in the Assembly. According to legal experts, the reservation for Pandits in the Assembly would require amendments in the Constitution, which has not been done by the Centre so far.

The Delimitation Commission had visited J&K for four days from July 6-9 and met stakeholders including representatives of political parties, elected panchayat members and other groups. The commission also met all 20 Deputy Commissioners of J&K and sought data on the area of existing constituencies

Since Kashmir has more voters, more seats should be in Kashmir. The delimitation is taking place as per 2011 census and not as per area. You don't give representation to land but people
Justice (Retd) Hasnain Masoodi, NC

Jammu has more area and the commission should consider 2011 census and topography for redrawing the seats. We want the exercise to be carried out on these parameters. We want Jammu to get what it deserves as per the law
Sunil Sethi, BJP

Kashmir has a marginal population edge of 12% over Jammu but the latter has 62% of total area having tough terrain and poor accessibility. Therefore, Jammu deserves more seats than Kashmir
H D Singh, J&K National Panthers Party

When delimitation can't happen in the rest of the country till 2026, why are they doing it in J&K? They want to increase seats in some regions and organise seats in a way so as to divide the votes of the majority community
Mehbooba Mufti, PDP

Delimitation is an excellent thing in a democracy but its first misuse was done by NC. The BJP should not exasperate the problems. We suspect that they would create a Jammu versus Kashmir scenario

Oppn says no to invite for talk on MPs' suspension

Centre's 'selective' call to 5 parties won't be accepted; meeting today to decide action

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

AS the winter session of Parliament is entering the final week and the opposition parties are not in a mood to give up their protests against the suspension of 12 Rajya Sabha MPs, the central government on Sunday called for a meeting of leaders of the five parties whose MPs have been suspended. However, these parties are unlikely to attend the meeting and want the entire opposition to discuss the matter.

Floor leaders of the opposition parties are likely to meet at the office of Leader of Opposition in Rajya Sabha, Mallikarjun Kharge's office on Monday morning to decide the future course of action.

"Opposition is united in fighting the suspension of 12 MPs. Calling 5 parties for discussion at the fag end of the session is to divide the opposition unity. CPI will not subscribe to it. The final decision will be taken tomorrow in the joint opposition meeting," said CPI MP Binoy Viswam who is among the 12 suspended MPs.

The Rajya Sabha has been witnessing disruption since the start of the winter session on November 29 and this has pulled down the cumulative functionality of the House for the first three weeks to 46.70 per cent.

"Monday morning stunt from a government who does not want Parliament to function. Government calls leaders of five opposition parties whose 12 RS MPs have been arbitrarily suspended. Government leaves the other 10 Opposition parties out. Failed stunt. All opposition clear that first revoke the arbitrary suspension (sic)," tweeted senior TMC MP Derek O'Brien.

Lawmakers from the Congress, TMC, CPI(M), CPI and Shiv Sena have been staging a sit-in in front of the Gandhi statue in Parliament to protest their suspension.

Meanwhile, the Congress strategy group in both Houses of Parliament met Sunday evening to discuss the party's strategy to continue pushing for revoking the suspension of MPs while seeking discussion on key issues that the government is evading.

Cong digital membership crawls

New Delhi: After over a month of the launch of a membership drive that would culminate in presidential elections, Congress is yet to finalise its nationwide digital membership drive with the majority of membership works done through the manual process as of now. The party has launched the membership drive from November 1 till March 31, 2022, but plans to extend the duration for another month till April 30 keeping in mind the upcoming Assembly elections. Some states have launched a digital drive but the party is yet to finalise a nationwide plan for the launch of digital membership. The party has been wary of the new digital system in the wake of its botched experiment with 'Shakti App' in Lok Sabha elections in 2019. Also, Congress general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra had flagged some serious concern about it. ENS

Parl panel questions lateral entry, suggests training of officers

KUMAR VIKRAM @New Delhi

WHILE the central government has been focusing more on entry of professionals in various departments through lateral entry, a parliamentary standing committee, in its latest report, has observed otherwise, stating why government officials from the non-executive branch couldn't be trained on the same lines as outside experts inducted laterally.

"The committee fails to understand as to why officers from non-executive branches of the government can't be appropriately trained on the same lines as outside experts inducted through lateral entry, especially when the former have an advantage as they know a thing or two about the functioning of the Union government," the panel said while reiterating its recommendation.

Lateral recruitment, at the levels of joint secretary, director and deputy secretary in the Government of India, is undertaken to appoint persons for specific assignments. As per the Centre, this has been done keeping in view their specialised knowledge and expertise in the domain area. Nine candidates were selected for appointment as joint secretaries in various ministries through lateral recruitment in 2019. Further, 31 candidates were selected in 2021, comprising three candidates for the post of Joint Secretary, 19 for the post of director and nine for the post of deputy secretary.

The entire selection process for making lateral recruitment was entrusted to the UPSC.

In its latest report, the parliamentary panel noted that under lateral entry scheme, applications are invited from 'talented and motivated Indian nationals willing to contribute towards nation building to join the government at the level of joint secretary or director', the object is to draw expertise, experience and also to facilitate exchange of talent.

The committee underscored the extension of the same principle to the Central Staffing Scheme. The committee has suggested expanding the scope of the Central Staffing Scheme not with an intention to overhaul the bureaucracy but to fulfil the twin purposes of bringing in domain expertise and addressing the shortage of bureaucrats, the report said.

Law still unsettled on worship in public places

KANU SARDA @New Delhi

WITH controversy raging in Gurugram over Friday namaz in public spaces and a former Rajya Sabha MP approaching the Supreme Court over the right to practise religion, a look at the precedents reveals that various court rulings failed to settle the law in question.

Former MP Mohammed Adeeb had moved the apex court asking for action against Haryana officials for failing to comply with earlier directions to curb communal sentiments resulting in hate crimes.

In the Saghir Ahmad judgment of 1955, the Supreme Court held that people are entitled to use public roads and streets, but this right is limited by similar rights of every other citizen to use them. In the M Ismail Faruqui case the same year, the court ruled that a mosque is not an essential part of the practice of Islam and namaz can be offered anywhere, even in the open. At the same time, it said the right to worship, guaranteed under Article 25 of the Constitution, does not extend to the right to worship at every place.

In 2018, the apex court came across a question as to whether public premises and parks can be used for performing 'Ram Leela', 'Mata Ki Chowki' and other religious functions. Any direction in the 2018 case, which is yet to come up for its first hearing, will settle the law on the contentious issues.

Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution lays down that all citizens shall have the right to freedom of speech and expression, while subclause (b) guarantees the right to assemble peaceably and without arms.

Article 25 says everyone is entitled to freedom of conscience and the right to freely practise and propagate religion, subject to the limitations of public order, morality and health. Article 26 entitles every religious denomination to manage its own affairs in matters of religion, but this right is also subject to public order, morality and health.

Uddhav betrayed us on CM post: Shah

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

IN a scathing attack on Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray, Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Sunday said the Shiv Sena chief not only "compromised" Hindutva ideology but also "betrayed" the BJP for getting the CM post.

Speaking in Pune, Shah said it was "clear" that the 2019 Maharashtra Assembly elections would be fought under the leadership of Devendra Fadnavis and he would be the only CM face. "We had discussed and even spoken in several rallies that the next government in Maharashtra would be run by the BJP-Shiv Sena combine, and Devendra Fadnavis would be the CM. At that time, no one from Shiv Sena raised any objections. Uddhav compromised his Hindutva ideology for the chief minister post and formed the government with Congress and NCP to whom he had criticised in the past," Shah said.

Shah, while kick-starting the Pune Municipal Corporation elections scheduled next year, termed the Maha Vikas Aghadi government in Maharashtra "nikkami (useless)".

Shah also challenged the MVA government to declare fresh Assembly polls if they are confident of the strength of the alliance.

"We are confident of defeating them. People did not see this government during the Covid pandemic. People are fed up with this government and the change will happen from our victory in the Pune Municipal Corporation elections," Shah said, adding that Pune poll is very important for the saffron party. "Pune is the historic city that gives directions to the nation," Shah said.

ATTACK ON YOGI

Day after IT raids, Akhilesh alleges phone tapping by govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Lucknow

A day after income tax raids on the premises of the Samajwadi Party's associates across Uttar Pradesh, SP chief Akhilesh Yadav on Sunday alleged that the Yogi Adityanath government was tapping phones of his party leaders. Akhilesh claimed even his phone calls were tapped, and blamed Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath of personally of snooping on their phone conversations.

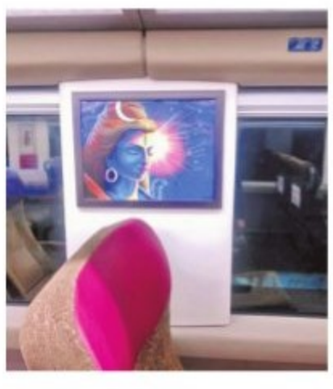
While interacting with media persons on Sunday, the SP chief said: "Our phones are being tapped. This includes calls made from the Samajwadi Party office and of people associated with us. The chief minister himself listens to the recordings every evening. We have got a useless government. It is my warning to all of you that if you call me up, our calls will be tapped and recordings will be heard."

Akhilesh alleged that phones tapping was happening on the directives issued by the "useless" chief minister of the state. "Wherever there are elections, the BJP taps phones of Opposition leaders...I am the one who is being targeted," said the former CM.

Akhilesh was accompanied by the party's national secretary and spokesperson Rajiv Rai, whose premises were raided by income tax sleuths in Mau district Saturday. Later in the day, Adityanath defended the tax raids, saying he could understand why SP was "feeling the pain".

VANDE BHARAT EXPRESS

Paintings of deities to greet Varanasi passengers



RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

TRAIN passengers will soon be greeted with paintings of Shiva and Adi Shakti on the interiors walls of the Varanasi-New Delhi Vande Bharat Express's executive class coaches as part of an initiative to highlight Kashi's rich religious and cultural heritage.

One of the oldest cities in the world, Varanasi is a major pilgrimage stop for millions of Hindus. It is also the constituency of PM Narendra Modi, who recently dedicated the Kashi corridor to Lord Shiva.

Differently-abled artists from Jammu were roped in for painting the various episodes associated with the two Hindu deities. Some of the paintings include the Ardhanarishvara form of Shiva which depicts the synthesis of masculine and feminine energies of the universe. Another painting depicts Adi Shakti in a higher form of meditation.

The purpose of the theme-based photos, a senior railway official said, was to essentially evoke a sense of spirituality among passengers while on their journey to Varanasi. Running at a speed of 160 km per hour, the Vande Bharat Express covers the journey in 8 hours. "Since Varanasi is the land of Lord Shiva and linked with meditation and spiritual practices, the paintings will also give some visual insights on the themes," the official said.

'GOANS REPENT VOTING BJP IN, WANT CONGRESS RULE TO RETURN'

Goa opposition leader Digambar Kamat says there is strong undercurrent against ruling party

Political PULSE

FORMER Goa CM and Leader of Opposition Digambar Kamat of the Congress tells Sudhir Suryawanshi over phone that people of the state will reject TMC and AAP as they are "outsiders" and "BJP's B team". Holding the BJP responsible for the death of 3,500 people due to mishandling of the Covid pandemic, he said Goan voters will throw the party out of power in the upcoming election.

Why should people vote Congress in the Assembly election due early next year?

There is a strong undercurrent against the BJP in Goa. People are comparing my tenure as CM from 2007 to 2015 with the BJP's 10-year rule. In the last 10 years, poverty in Goa has increased. People dependent on daily wages are suffering a lot with no help from the government. The people we are meeting tell us things were better under the Congress and want those days to return. They repent voting for the BJP and are ready to correct their mistake in the upcoming elections.

Where has the BJP government failed?

It has failed on all fronts. It mishandled the pandemic, resulting in the merciless killing of 3,500 people. People were gasping for breath, but the government failed to provide them oxygen. It failed to take care of people's health. Moreover, the BJP is turning the beautiful coastal state into a coal hub through three linear projects. People oppose this vehemently. When I was CM, people had opposed 17 proposed Special Economic Zones (SEZs). We listened to them and scrapped the projects. But now there is no one in the government to hear their voice. Moreover, only uneducated people used to migrate in search of jobs, but now educated people are leaving Goa for better opportunities outside. The government has no time to address the issue.

Is corruption an issue in Goa?

The BJP-led government is full of vested interests. Its own MLAs are making serious allegations. Three BJP MLAs alleged that ₹17 crore had been taken for recruitment of engineers in PWD. This is like the Vyapam scam in Madhya Pradesh.

What impact will TMC and AAP have in Goa?

Both TMC and AAP will have zero impact. In the last elections too, AAP had come with a lot of fanfare, did not win even a single seat. The same will happen with TMC. Goan voters will reject these parties of outsiders. TMC says it is anti-BJP, but it has poached Congress or NCP MLAs, not a single BJP MLA. Then how can it be called an anti-BJP party? It is like the BJP's B team that seeks to damage anti-BJP parties and help the BJP. People want Congress rule to return and bring them prosperity.

In 2017, Congress was the single largest party, yet it failed to form the government....

Our leader P. Chidambaram has apologised for the 2017 blunder of not forming the government despite the people's mandate. This time we will ensure there is no mistake when it comes to forming the government.

Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut met Congress leader Rahul Gandhi and Priyanka Gandhi. Is there any pre-poll alliance with Shiv Sena or the NCP in Goa?

Our central leadership will decide on alliances. The talks with Sena may be at the senior level, but there is no such thing at the local level. However, we will implement whatever our leaders decide.

Punjab CM Channi recently visited a Dera head during poll campaign

AHEAD OF PUNJAB POLLS, ALL ROADS LEAD TO DERAS

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

AHEAD of Assembly polls, leaders of all political parties in Punjab are knocking on the doors of Deras. It's no surprise as these socio-religious sects have a direct influence on voters in 45 of the 117 constituencies.

As people from socially and economically marginalised communities form a major section of their followers, it gives the sects considerable political heft in the state where SCs comprise 32 per cent of the population -- highest in the country.

The biggest Dera in Punjab, the Radha Soami Satsang sect at Beas, has influence in around 19 constituencies across both Doaba and Majha regions. When Dera Sacha Sauda, which has about 50 lakh followers in Punjab and Haryana, held congregations in several districts some time ago to celebrate its former head Shah Mastana's birthday, several prominent political leaders came calling. This Dera has considerable influence in the Malwa region and can influence the outcome in some 40 constituencies. It had supported the Congress in 2007 and SAD-BJP in 2012, but in 2017 it showed mixed loyalties. It had helped the Congress form the government in 2002 and supported the party again in the 2004 general elections. Its chief Gurmeet Ram Rahim Singh is in jail for rape and murder, and also faces accusations of blasphemy for allegedly hurting Sikh sentiments.

Political analyst Jagrup Singh Sekhon of Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar, said that as social institutions, Deras influence the voting behaviour of their followers. "Where victory margins are narrow, Deras can swing the poll outcome," said another analyst.

A few months ago, Punjab Congress President Navjot Singh Sidhu visited Sach Khand Ballan Dera of the Ravidassia community in Jalandhar. He also visited Sant Pritam Dass Dera Babe Jaure in Raipur Rasoolpur village of Jalandhar district. This Dera is headed by Sant Nirmal Das, president of Shri Guru Ravidas Sadhu Samperdaye Society.

CM Charanjit Singh Channi too visited Dera Sach Khand Ballan and announced the setting up of a Guru Ravidas Chair under the Dera. This Dera has influence over eight seats.

Chouhan back in UP for BJP poll campaign

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

JUST five days after his visit to Varanasi and Ayodhya, Madhya Pradesh CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan was back in poll-bound UP on Sunday to launch the BJP's Jan Vishvas Yatra in Ballia district — one of six such yatras by the party in the state. The yatra launched in Ballia will cover a large part of eastern UP, including Mau, Azamgarh, Sant Kabir Nagar, Gorakhpur, Deoria, Maharajganj and Siddharthnagar districts, before culminating in Basti. This region is considered CM Yogi Adityanath's bastion.

Seen as the BJP's reply to Akhilesh Yadav's Vijay Rath Yatra and Priyanka Gandhi Vadra's Pratigya Yatra, the Jan Vishvas Yatras aim to reach out to people with the Yogi government's message of good governance as well as mobilise the party's rank and file.

Chouhan, who is expected to play a major role in the poll campaign in UP, talked about the achievements of both the central and the UP government in the state. He said PM Narendra Modi and Yogi represent strong leadership and governance in UP.

The role of BJP leaders from MP in the UP poll campaign assumes more significance as around 10-15 UP districts comprising over 50 constituencies share borders with BJP-ruled MP. Sources said Priyanka Gandhi too has asked the Congress's MP unit to send leaders for her party's UP campaign.

Violence mars Kolkata civic body polls

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kolkata

VOTING in Kolkata's civic body elections took place in a tense atmosphere on Sunday, amid allegations that workers of the TMC, the ruling party in West Bengal, were involved in violence against opposition candidates across the city.

After the polls opened at 7 am, police received hundreds of complaints from different political parties, who claim election agents were driven out of polling booths. In the city's Sealdah and Khanna areas, two crude bombs were thrown, injuring at least two people. Opposition parties BJP, CPI(M) and Congress staged demonstrations in front of police stations and alleged high-handedness by the ruling party.

The state election commission recorded a 63.63% turnout in 144 wards as of 5 pm.

The BJP's candidate in ward 22, sitting councillor Meena Devi Purohit, said she was manhandled by TMC activists, a charge the TMC denied. The BJP candidate in ward 86 also made a similar allegation. In ward 21, CPI(M)'s Sujata Saha was allegedly assaulted and later hospitalised.

In another part of Kolkata, the Congress alleged that its polling agents were thrashed in a booth on Brabourne Road by TMC supporters. CPI(M) activists staged a road blockade in the Bagha Jatin area, alleging that their polling agents were not allowed inside the booths.

The poll commission, however, said it did not receive any complaint of booth capturing.

Leader of Opposition Suvendu Adhikari said the civic elections were a mockery and demanded a re-poll in all the 144 wards. On Sunday, TMC's national general secretary Abhishek Banerjee said: "If our party workers were involved in any act of violence, give us the proof. The party will take stern action within 24 hours."

The TMC is fighting to retain its majority in the civic body for the third consecutive term.

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

FORMER chief minister and Hindustani Awam Morcha (Secular) chief Jitan Ram Manjhi kicked up a controversy when he refused to consider lord Rama as god and also made derogatory remarks against priests (read Brahmins).

Manjhi's controversial remarks came at a meeting of Bhuiyan-Mushahar community held in Patna late on Saturday. Manjhi's son Santosh Kumar is a cabinet minister in the Nitish Kumar government.

"Lord Rama was an imaginary character of a fiction. He was not real. I have never worshiped him and always advise my fellow members not to worship him as God," he said.

The HAM (S) chief lamented that members of Musahar community, the most backward among the downtrodden, were being lured to worship Hindu Gods and Goddess. "It pains me when somebody belonging to Musahar community chants 'Jai Bhim'," he said. Musahar community follow ideals and principles of late Baba Saheb Bhim Rao Ambedkar.

Had Sardar Patel lived longer, he'd have freed Goa much earlier, claims Modi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

PM Narendra Modi on Sunday said that Goa would have been liberated from Portuguese rule much earlier had Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel lived for some more years.

"Had Sardar lived a little longer, Goa would have been liberated much earlier," Modi said. He was speaking at an event to commemorate the Goa Liberation Day, observed on December 19 annually to mark the day Indian armed forces freed the coastal state from Portuguese rule in 1961.

Modi also lauded freedom fighters, including those from outside Goa, who fought for the state's freedom. When India got Independence, they still continued the fight to liberate Goa, he added. "They ensured that the struggle to liberate Goa did not end after India's independence," he said.

Modi on Sunday inaugurated multiple development projects in Goa, including the renovated Fort Aguada Jail Museum, the super-speciality Block at Goa Medical College, the South Goa District Hospital, an aviation skill development centre at Mopa Airport, and a gas-insulated substation at Davorlim in Navelim. Earlier, he felicitated Operation Vijay veterans and offered tribute at the martyrs' memorial in Azad Maidan, Panaji.

Modi said, "Goa came under Portuguese rule when a major part of the country was being ruled by the Mughals. But even centuries later, neither Goa has forgotten its Indianness, nor India has forgotten its Goa... Some time ago, I went to Italy and Vatican City. There I also had the opportunity to meet Pope Francis. I invited him to visit India, to which Pope Francis said, 'This is the greatest gift you have given me.' This is his love for India's diversity and our radiant democracy."

Arunachal Union sets 15-day time for refugee count

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

AGAINST the backdrop of the charge of racial profiling of Buddhist Chakmas and Hindu Hajongs, the All Arunachal Pradesh Students' Union (AAPSU) served a 15-day deadline on the state's BJP government demanding the resumption of the census of the "refugees".

The students' body claimed the government had stopped the exercise after receiving a letter from the Prime Minister's Office (PMO).

AAPSU general secretary Tobom Dai said the PMO had on December 7 sought a response from the state government after the Chakma Development Foundation of India (CDFI) petitioned it, alleging racial profiling of the people belonging to the two communities. Dai dismissed the charge.

"It was a regular administrative exercise, aimed at maintaining the data of the refugees for safeguarding the interests of the indigenous people. The state government must not buckle under any external pressure," he said.

Frustrated farmer sets garlic produce ablaze

Unable to get adequate price for his agriculture produce, young farmer Shankar Sirfira set ablaze his 60 kg garlic produce at the Mandsaur mandi in Mandsaur on Saturday. The mandi staffers and other farmers, however, prevented damage to produce of other farmers at the open auction in the Mandi. Later, Shankar told the police that he had spent `5,000 on transporting garlic from Ujjain to Mandsaur, but was only getting `1,100 for the same produce at the open auction, which is why he set his garlic produce afire. With the garlic crop not covered under minimum support price (MSP), it is sold by farmers through open auction at mandis.

Destroy police station if leaders say so: BJYM leader

A video of the Dhar district Bharatiya Janta Yuva Morcha (BJYM) president Jaisurya asking the ruling BJP's youth wing workers to even destroy a police station if asked by the party leaders went viral causing embarrassment to the saffron party. In the video, the BJYM leader is seen asking his youth wing's workers to do whatever is asked by party leaders, including destroying a police station. Tweeting the video, ex-minister and Congress MLA from Indore district Jeetu Patwari wrote, "Senior BJP leaders smiling at such remarks from the same stage speaks volumes about the culture followed in the BJP."

IAS officer says no to kanyadan during wedding

Tapasya Parihar, a 2018 batch IAS officer recently did the unimaginable by saying no to the ritual of kanyadan by her father during her marriage to IFS officer Garvit Gangwar. "I'm your daughter and will always stay so, I'm not meant for charity/donation that my kanyadan should be performed," said Tapasya bringing tears to the eyes of her father. Not only did her father feel proud of her daughter, but the groom respected his wife-to-be's sentiments. Tapasya, who hails from Narsinghpur, got married to Garvit, an IFS officer from Tamil Nadu cadre, at the state's hill tourism hotpsot Pachmarhi.

Valmiki caste people denied space for wedding

Hurt by denial of marriage gardens for a wedding over a case of caste discrimination, around 200-odd members of the scheduled caste Valmiki recently wrote to the local administration seeking religious conversion at Pichhore town of Shivpuri district. According to the concerned bride's cousin Amar Ghawri, at least ten marriage gardens in Pichhore town denied them space for conducting the wedding saying that they hailed from an untouchable caste. Coming to know about the matter, the local administration and Hindu Jagran Manch activists resolved the issue and ensured a proper marriage garden for the girl's wedding.

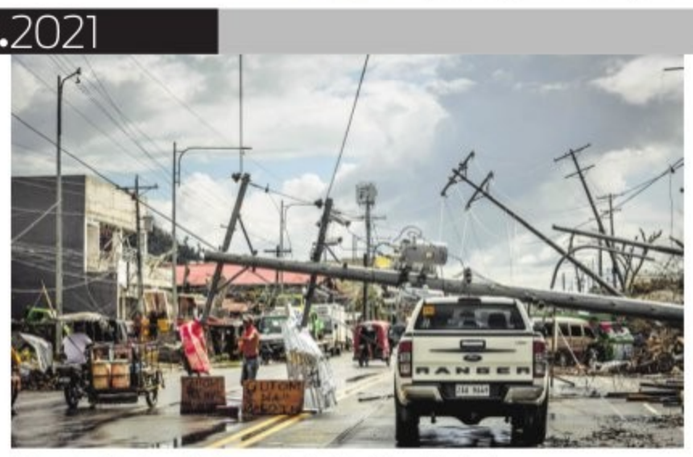
Hundreds homeless and starving after Philippines storm



Fallen electric pylons block a road in Surigao City on Sunday | AFP

MANILA

MORE than 100 people have been killed in the strongest typhoon to hit the Philippines this year, official tallies showed on Sunday, as efforts to deliver water and food to devastated islands ramped up.

More than 3,00,000 people fled their homes and beachfront resorts as Typhoon Rai ravaged the southern and central regions of the archipelago.

The storm knocked out communications and electricity in many areas, ripped off roofs, damaged hospitals, toppled concrete power poles and flooded villages.

Arthur Yap, governor of the popular tourist destination Bohol, said on his official Facebook page that mayors on the devastated island had so far reported 72 deaths in their towns.

Ten people also died on the Dinagat Islands, provincial information officer Jeffrey Crisostomo told AFP.

That took the overall number of reported deaths to 108, according to the latest official figures, making it one of the deadliest typhoons to hit the country in years.

But the toll was likely to rise as disaster agencies assessed the full extent of the storm's aftermath across the vast archipelago.

Rai smashed into the country Thursday as a super typhoon packing wind speeds of 195 kilometres per hour.

Thousands of military, police, coast guard and fire personnel are being deployed to assist in search and rescue efforts in the worst-affected areas. Coast guard and naval vessels carrying food, water and medical supplies are being dispatched, while heavy machinery — like backhoes and front-end loaders — are being sent to help clear roads blocked by fallen power poles and trees.

"It's going to be a long, tough road for people to rebuild and get their lives back on track," said Alberto Bocanegra, head of the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies in the Philippines.

Deeply flawed US strikes kill civilians in thousands

Secret Pentagon document says faulty intelligence, poor targeting caused several hundred civilian deaths previously unreported

WASHINGTON

NEWLY obtained Pentagon documents show that the US air wars in West Asia have been marked by "deeply flawed intelligence" and resulted in thousands of civilian deaths, including many children, the New York Times reported on Saturday.

It said a trove of confidential documents covering more than 1,300 reports of civilian casualties undercuts the government's portrayal of a war fought with precision bombs.

Pledges of transparency and accountability, it said, had regularly fallen short.

"Not a single record provided includes a finding of wrongdoing or disciplinary action," the paper reported in what it said was the first of a two-part series.

While several of the cases mentioned by the Times have been previously reported, it said its investigation showed that the number of civilian deaths had been "drastically undercounted," by at least several hundred.

Pentagon

Among three cases cited was a July 19, 2016 bombing by US special forces of what were believed to be three Islamic State group staging areas in northern Syria. Initial reports were of 85 fighters killed. Instead, the dead were 120 farmers and other villagers.

Another example was a November 2015 attack in Ramadi, Iraq after a man was seen dragging "an unknown heavy object" into an Islamic State position. The "object," a review found, was a child, who died in the strike.

Poor or inadequate surveillance footage often contributed to deadly targeting failures, the report said.

More recently, the United States had to retract its claim that a vehicle destroyed by a drone on a Kabul street in August had contained bombs. Victims of the strike, it turned out, were 10 members of a family, including children.

Many civilian survivors of US attacks, the report says, were left with disabilities requiring expensive treatment, but condolence payments numbered fewer than a dozen. Asked for comment, Captain Bill Urban, spokesman for the US Central Command, told the Times "even with the best technology, mistakes do happen, whether based on incomplete information or misinterpretation of the information available." "We work diligently to avoid such harm. We investigate each credible instance. And we regret each loss of innocent life." AFP

Joe Manchin

Senator deals blow to Biden's $2 trillion plan

WASHINGTON

DEMOCRATIC Senator Joe Manchin said on Sunday he cannot back his party's signature $2 trillion social and environment bill, dealing a potentially fatal blow to President Joe Biden's leading domestic initiative heading into an election year when Democrats' narrow hold on Congress was already in peril. Manchin told Fox News Sunday that he always has made clear he had reservations about the legislation and that now, after five-and-half months of discussions and negotiations, "I cannot vote to continue with this piece of legislation."

The White House had no immediate comment.

The legislation's apparent collapse is sure to deepen the bitter ideological divisions within the Democratic Party between progressives and moderates. That would call into question whether Democrats will be able to join together behind any substantial legislation before the November congressional elections.

3 former generals warn of possible coup after US polls

WASHINGTON

AS the first anniversary of the January 6 Capitol riots approach, three retired US generals have sounded alarms about the possibility of a coup in the immediate aftermath of the 2024 presidential election.

In a joint op-ed in the Washington Post, retired major generals Paul D Eaton and Antonio M Taguba, and retired brigadier general Steven M Anderson warned that the "signs of potential turmoil in our armed forces are there."

They pointed to the fact that many veterans and active-duty members participated in the January 6 storming of the Capitol building. Subsequently, a group of 124 retired Army officers released a letter questioning the legitimacy of the 2020 elections, very much echoing former president Donald Trump in the process.

"The potential for a total breakdown of the chain of command along partisan lines — from the top of the chain to squad level — is significant should another insurrection occur. The idea of rogue units organising among themselves to support the rightful commander in chief cannot be dismissed," the three generals wrote on the Washington Post.

"We are chilled to our bones at the thought of a coup succeeding next time," they said.

They highlighted the case of Brigadier General Thomas Mancino, the commanding officer of the Oklahoma National Guard, who refused to obey an order from President Joe Biden that all National Guard members be vaccinated against coronavirus. Mancino claimed that his commander in chief is the Republican governor of Oklahoma, not the Democrat Joe Biden, as National Guard is not a federally-mobilised force. The Air Force last week discharged 27 people for refusing to get the vaccine, making them what officials believe are the first service members to be removed for disobeying the mandate to get the shots.

Architect behind London's iconic 'Cheesegrater' dies aged 88

LONDON

BRITISH architect Richard Rogers, known for designing some of the world's most famous buildings including Paris' Pompidou Centre, has died aged 88, his publicist said on Sunday.

Rogers, who changed the London skyline with distinctive creations such as the Millennium Dome and the 'Cheesegrater', "passed away quietly" on Saturday night, Freud communications agency's Matthew Freud told the Press Association. His son Roo Rogers also confirmed his death to the New York Times, but did not give the cause.

The Italian-born architect won a series of awards for his designs, including the 2007 Pritzker Prize, and is one of the pioneers of the "high-tech" architecture movement, distinguished by structures incorporating industrial materials such as glass and steel. He is the co-creator of France's Pompidou Centre — opened in 1977 and famed for its multi-coloured, pipe-covered facade.

Rogers completed some 400 commissions, and other well-known designs include Strasbourg's European Court of Human Rights and the Three World Trade Centre in New York, as well as international airport terminals in Madrid and London's Heathrow.

Turnout muted for HK's 'patriots only' poll

HONG KONG

TURNOUT was looking muted on Sunday as Hong Kongers cast ballots for city lawmakers under Beijing's new "patriots only" rules which drastically reduce the number of directly elected seats and control who can run for office.

As Hong Kong leader Carrie Lam arrived to cast her vote on Sunday morning, three protesters from the pro-democracy League of Social Democrats party chanted: "I want genuine universal suffrage".

"(Lam) said this was an improvement of the electoral system, but in reality, it stripped Hong Kongers of their right to vote," activist Chan Po-ying told reporters.

The government bought up newspaper front pages and billboards, sent flyers to every household, pinged mobile phones with reminders to vote and made public transport free for the day.

Senior Chinese officials also called for Hong Kongers to vote.

But the publicity blitz and appeals appear to have done little to persuade residents in a city where much dissent has been criminalised by a sweeping national security law. An accountant in her 20s, who gave her name as Loy, said she had no plans to use her ballot.

But Daniel So, a 65-year-old who works in technology, was among the first queuing at a polling centre in the wealthy Mid-Levels district.

"The young people are not so interested in this election because they are misled by foreign politicians and media," he told AFP.

Lam has sought to manage expectations, telling state media last week that a low turnout could indicate "the government is doing well and its credibility is high".

YOUTH ANGERED BY CHINESE SWAY STAYS AWAY

It is the first legislature poll under the new political blueprint China imposed on Hong Kong in response to massive pro-democracy protests

CONTROVERSIAL REFORMS

The rubber-stamp Chinese parliament in March voted to give a pro-Beijing committee power to appoint more of Hong Kong's lawmakers, reducing the proportion of those directly elected, and ensure that only those truly loyal to Beijing are allowed to run for office

The move expanded the size of the chamber from 70 to 90 seats, with members of the Election Committee, a strongly pro-Beijing body responsible for electing the chief executive, making up 40 of those

The remaining 30 are chosen by reliably pro-Beijing committees that represent special-interest and industry groups.

The young people are not so interested in this election because they are misled by foreign politicians and media. China is doing so great now

Daniel So, a Hong Kong resident

4.4 million residents are eligible to vote

39% of respondents indicated that they are unlikely to vote

1.1 million people or around 25 per cent of the electorate, had cast a vote, ten hours after polling stations opened. In 2016, 40 per cent had cast votes by the same point

Filing ITR in last minute? Avoid these mistakes!

Deadline just 10 days away and govt is unlikely to extend it further

DIPAK MONDAL @New Delhi

IF you have not yet filed your income tax return (ITR), the tax department might have already spammed your inbox with messages and mails reminding you that the deadline is approaching.

As we enter the last 10 days of the year, and the last date of filing returns being 31 December, it is time you pay heed to the repeated reminders of the income tax department and file your returns.

However, since you have already delayed the filing, it is quite likely you may not just face frequent technical glitches on the website -as e-filing website do see last minute rush leading to crashing of the site - but also difficulty in getting all your documents in place.

Invariably, in the last-minute rush one can make some mistakes in filing returns.

So, in case you are one of those not yet filed your returns, keep the following in mind before filing returns:

Use the correct ITR form: This is the most common error one may commit especially if you are filing on your own and have delayed it to the last moment. Usually, for those who have only salary as a source of income, things become simpler. But if you have multiple sources of income, like dividend, capital gains, business income, income from house rent, etc, you have to be careful while choosing the ITR form.

For example, if you have income from only one house property apart from your salary and interest income, you have to file ITR-1 form. However, if you have income from multiple house properties, you have to file ITR -2/3/4 depending on other sources of income.

"Submitting a return on the wrong form might result in a variety of consequences," says Rajat Mohan, partner in chartered accountancy firm AMRG & Associates.

Keep income/expense documents handy : To correctly file the return, you must have all the income support documents in hand - Form 16 for salary income, Form 16A for non-salary income, documents for savings bank interest, and other sources of income.

Similarly, you should have with you all the documents for expenses and deductions you are eligible to claim. If you have a home loan, and you are paying both interest and principal, you should get an income tax certificate from your bank providing proof of your interest expense and principal repayment.

"Though the recently introduced tax utility pre-fills certain elements and work as a handy tool for completing an individual assessee's return of income but there are number of nuances that have yet to be recorded or left neglected in the utility form, which necessitate the assessee's special attention," says Rajat Mohan of AMRG & Associates.

Review and reconciliation of transactions reported in Annual Information Statement: The newly introduced Annual Information Statement (AIS) gives a comprehensive view of the transaction reported in the Form 26AS. Form 26AS gives details of all the taxes you have paid - TDS, advance tax, etc. While filing the return, you should be able to reconcile the income filed in ITR with that in form 26AS and Annual Information Statement.

Comparison of income taxable as per new scheme vs old scheme: While filing return, the website would ask you if you want to file income tax return under new tax regime or old tax regime. This could be tricky, and you have to be careful while choosing the new scheme as once you have chosen the new scheme, you cannot go back to the old scheme.

Typically, if you have several deductions to claim, you might find the old scheme saving more taxes than the new regime, even if under the latter tax rates have been reduced. So, don't choose the 'wrong' option in the rush to filing your return on time.

Disclosure of asset & liabilities: If your total income exceeds ₹50 lakh, you have to disclose all assets — whether bought by yourself, inherited or gifted — and liabilities incurred against those assets.

While reporting these assets, the trick could be correctly valuing the assets. If you have not bought the asset yourself and have been gifted to you, and you don't know the purchase price, it is better to value the asset at its fair market value to avoid any inconveniences later.

Correct classification of income from trading in shares, futures & options: Not everyone who trade in stocks and Futures and Options may treat the income from such activities as capital gains. A significant income from such activities may be treated as business income, and accordingly the ITR form can be selected while filing returns.

As the last date for filing returns approaches, it is advisable to not leave the filing of ITR till the last week. The government has already given many extensions and it is unlikely that they would give another extension. So, file your return in a day or two and escape possible penalties for not filing the returns on time.

COST OF NOT FILING ITR ON TIME

Penalty: ₹1,000 for those who have total income below ₹5 lakh; ₹5,000 for those who have total income of ₹5 lakh or more

Delay in refund: If you have paid excess tax than you are required to in a particular financial year, you are eligible for refunds. If you delay the filing of returns, your money remains stuck with the tax department

Interest: You would be required to pay interest at the rate of 1% for every month, or part of a month, on the amount of tax remaining unpaid.

Less time for revising return: If you have made errors in filing returns, you have time till the end of assessment year to revise the ITR. The more you delay the process of filing returns, the less time you get to revise your return

WHERE TO INVEST IN 2022

RAJAS KELKAR

MANY of you would come across reports or social media posts on 'Where to invest in 2022'. There is a lot of number crunching and analysis happening as you read this column. We continue to maintain that the column does not offer any investment advice. However, you can learn to read the signs, understand factors that influence your investment decisions.

The year ahead is set to deal with Omicron, the new Covid-19 variant described by the World Health Organisation as spreading more rapidly than we think. Inflation is anything but transitory and likely to be the key challenge in 2022. If not for the Omicron variant, the inflation factor would have meant steady rising interest rates. Yes, they may increase in the United States, as the US Federal Reserve has already announced. Europe would follow too in putting an end to the easy money policy. However, the economic activity is unlikely to get back to the same level as before the pandemic's onset. That would mean economic growth would remain a challenge for most countries.

In India, the Reserve Bank of India is still supportive of growth. It is not so worried about rising wholesale and retail prices. In the review earlier this month, the RBI monetary policy committee continued with an 'accommodative' credit policy stance. That means interest rates would stay low to support easy borrowing for business expansion and private consumption. A valuable time was lost during the pandemic as the economy witnessed a near shutdown. India's economy has to grow faster for years to recoup the losses incurred during the pandemic. The small and medium businesses have been at the receiving end of the pandemic and would take a long time to get to a stage where they hire new people for expansion. For any sustainable economic growth, small and medium-sized businesses have to not only get back on their feet but go into an expansion mode.

While interest rates may hold firm, they may not rise significantly in India in 2022. It is unlikely that RBI's monetary policy committee would make significant changes to borrowing rates.

That is the big picture.

From your standpoint, that means fixed deposits and other fixed-income instruments are likely to offer a similar return to that in 2021.

However, there is a silver lining to all the gloom. The slump in domestic consumption is set to pick up in 2022. That is because, in 2020 and 2021, most salaried households saved more and spent less. As people get back to work again, go out and commute to work, dine out and travel, the demand for goods and services increases. Those with jobs in sectors like IT services will likely witness more opportunities and salary revisions. The recent announcement of quarterly results by Accenture, one of the biggest IT services employers globally, suggests a significant uptick in new hiring. Indian IT services companies are unlikely to be far behind as they compete with global companies like Accenture and Capgemini directly.

EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

A survey of over 2,300 IT professionals by Spark Capital, a Mumbai-based brokerage, reveals that they are likely to spend more on electric cars, two-wheelers, consumer durables and other electronic gadgets. They are likely to take a higher life and health insurance cover. They are likely to buy more personal goods online. There is also an excitement about equity and mutual fund buying. Almost all of them have signed up for learning a new professional skill.

All of that suggests increased demand for consumer technology led-services. It may be good to look for sectors with poor market penetration. While telecom and internet services are well-entrenched, financial services still have a long way to go. Any business that enables equity trading, buying or selling insurance online, payment and banking services, digital loan companies, makes or sells electric car companies, or related services are areas to look at. The market is witnessing an initial public offering boom. A lot of these issues are overpriced. You have enough time in 2022 to assess their market performance.

You must bear in mind that equity investing is not about today. It is about tomorrow's profits. You need to look at businesses that can survive your lifetime. That is an excellent way to look at investing in 2022.

Impressive deal win trajectory and continued expansion in the pipeline would drive growth in the medium term. While the overhang from the DXC business (~6% of revenue) persists, strong traction in Direct International should continue to drive overall performance. The management's ability to defend margin is a key positive. The ability to proactively win multiple large digital transformation deals and gain wallet share indicates strength in its sales and delivery capabilities. We expect USD revenue/EPS CAGR of 20%/23% over FY21-23E. We maintain our Buy rating.

Retail investors stare at losses amid corrections

RAM SAHGAL @ MUMBAI

CORRECTIONS TO DEEPEN THIS MONTH

The benchmark has already corrected 8.7% from its record high of 18604.45 on Oct 19 through 16985.2 on Dec 17. The correction is likely to deepen this month on continued selling by FIIs, rising inflation worries and pandemic fears, say experts

RETAIL investors who recently jumped onto the stock market bandwagon could witness a further fall in their portfolio values with the market correction likely to deepen this month on continued foreign institutional investor selling, said market mavens.

The benchmark Nifty 50 index, which closed just below the psychological 17000 level on Friday, could "potentially" correct by another 500 points in the short term on rising inflation worries and resurgence of the pandemic, fears Nirmal Jain, founder and chairman of IIFL group.

The benchmark has already corrected 8.7% from its record high of 18604.45 on October 19 through 16985.2 on December 17 with global central banks like the US Fed scaling back asset purchases and the Bank Of England recently raising interest to curb a price spiral. Added to that is resurgence of the pandemic with the new Omicron variant threatening to derail the global recovery.

The gradual withdrawal of easy money means lesser flows by foreign portfolio investors into emerging markets like India, among the worst performing emerging market indices. The most widely tracked MSCI Emerging Market Index has fallen a lower 6.2% since October 19 compared to the Nifty.

The worry among market watchers is the increasing trend of retail investors entering the market at elevated valuations. The rising retail interest can be gauged by individual investors' rising investment into mutual funds' equity schemes.

While FIIs have net sold ₹24,435 crore worth of Indian shares so far this fiscal year (FY22), individual investor investments in equity schemes of mutual funds stood at ₹16.23 lakh crore as of November 2021, a whopping 55% rise from the corresponding month last year, according to the Association of Mutual Funds in India (AMFI) data.

Like IIFL's Jain, Chandan Taparia, derivatives and technical head, Motilal Oswal Financial Services, also expects the Nifty to test the 16500 level in the course of the month. He advises "caution" to retail investors. "The market has broken a rising trendline on weekly charts and every rise would likely be sold into," Taparia said. "Nifty should find support around 16500."

Derivatives expert Rohit Srivastava feels "bears are likely to prevail over bulls who've tried hard to defend the 17000 mark."

"From the look of things, we risk heading lower," Srivastava said.

ESG fund AUM jumps 4.7 times to ₹12,320 cr in two years ending Nov

BOOSTED by the pandemic, the ESG (environment social and governance)-focused mutual fund assets have grown 4.7 times between November 2019 and November 2021 with the cumulative AUM crossing ₹12,320 crore among 10 funds, and is on course to grow much bigger as more such schemes are being launched, says a report.

However, this AUM is only a paltry 0.3% of the over ₹38.45 lakh crore mutual funds industry as of end-November 2021 and is only a negligible portion of the global fund pool of $35.4 trillion as of end 2020.

As against this, Canada has the highest proportion of sustainable investment assets at 62% of the total mutual fund AUMs, followed by Europe at 42%, Australia at 38%, the US with 33% and Japan at 24%.

Asia, excluding Japan, has less than 1% share in the global sustainable asset pool, says a sustainability report by brokerage Motilal Oswal Financial Services.

Since the launch of the 17 sustainable development goals (SDGs) by the United Nations in 2015, the sustainable funds grew multifold annually at 11% between 2016 and 2020 to $35.3 trillion in 2020, which is a full 36% of the global AUM, up from 28% in 2016, according to the report.

Aggregate domestic ESG funds AUM rose 4.7 times to ₹12,320 crore in November 2021 from ₹2,630 crore in November 2019, the report said in a weekend note.

On the back of the fast growing ESG horizon since the pat five years, which got a remarkable acceptance among investors after the pandemic hit the world in March 2020, the report expects the trend to continue.

It can be noted that the fund grew in the country primarily during the pandemic as seven of the 10 ESG funds were launched only after January 2020.

Over the past one decade, domestic mutual fund assets rose to ₹38.45 lakh crore as of November 2021-- over fivefold growth from ₹6.82 lakh crore in November 2011.

When it comes sustainability performance too the country ranks 120th out of 165 countries. PTI

DON'T WAIT FOR NEW YEAR TO MAKE RESOLUTIONS

DECEMBER is the 'feeling guilty' month. It is the time of the year when we sit down and realise that we did not stick to our resolutions in the year that just went buy. In this case, the year is 2021, and in December of 2022 it will be 2022. Scene 1, Act 1. Scene 2, Act 1. It is really difficult to stick to too many resolutions, and in most cases we expect too much from our virtuous tomorrow while doing nothing as of today.

The book Atomic Habits has at least taught us that we should try to change a little at a time – so de-clutter your wardrobe, portfolio, table, mind... it works, try it.

FINANCIAL ADVICE

PV SUBRAMANYAM

writes at www.subramoney.com and has authored the best seller 'Retire Rich - Invest ₹ 40 a day'

So a list of useful financial resolutions include writing down financial goals, converting a big portion of savings into investments, living a simple, frugal life by choice – but choosing dream career, and start saving/investing for retirement.

The list of resolution should also include having regular conversations about money, saving and investing with spouse, kids and parents – all the people for whom we feel financially responsible. If I am a CXO, this means all my colleagues. If I am a school principal, it means all my teachers and non-teaching staff.

Besides, there are some more useful resolutions to make. For example, not to deal in direct equity with current level of knowledge of equities, but to increase financial knowledge – inter-alia by visiting good websites and reading good books.

One should also make a resolution to maintain income and expenditure details diligently and keep reviewing them.

Your new year resolution should also include maintaining proper records of assets and liabilities, understanding the risk of each asset class, and doing proper asset allocation.

As part of the resolution to protect those who are dependent, one must review the term insurance, medical insurance and retirement and make sure it is up to date and adequate, and the nominees are current.

I am not saying that these should be your financial resolutions for 2022. I am just saying draw a few from this and start making this happen. Having too many resolutions can be very exhausting and can fail badly.

I have a young friend who has started teaching personal finance to her children – aged 12 years and 7 years. She has started teaching them gratitude, and de-cluttering. She makes her children say thanks to their servants – a cook, a maid and 2 drivers. They say thanks every day, and on the day that their salary has to be paid. A great start for kids that young.

Similarly, you can sit with your parents and tell them how their portfolio is doing. Tell them the importance of making a will. Tell your 24 year old daughter why she should make a will the day she buys a house.

I am not a person who thinks that resolutions are necessary to make changes in one's life. However, having a set of financial goals – I mean financial behaviour goals-- is useful.

You can start on 20th December – and waiting even till 1st January, 2022 is not necessary.

Happy New year!

Peace AGM, six-member committee to revamp IOA constitution

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

THE much-anticipated annual general meeting of the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) was finally held at around noon on Sunday at its headquarters in Olympic Bhawan, New Delhi. There was not much of acrimony during the meeting that was conducted by the court-appointed administrator and retired judge, Rajiv Sahai Endlaw, and assisted by Injeti Srinivas, former secretary of the sports ministry.

As per court direction, the IOA AGM focussed on amending the constitution as per Delhi High Court directive and has formed a six-member committee to bring the constitution "in consonance with the National Sports Development Code of India 2011". According to the minutes of the meeting, all the names were unanimously accepted without any objection. The six-member committee comprises of IOA president Narinder Batra, secretary general Rajeev Mehta, treasurer Anandeshwar Pandey, two senior vice presidents Anil Khanna and RK Anand and Lalit Bhanot, the chairman of its preparations committee.

The committee has been given time until January 20 to bring in all the amendments that would align it with the sports code, the International Olympics Committee (IOC) Charter and the law of the land, as listed out in previous orders of the courts. This was necessitated after senior lawyer who specialises in sports, Rahul Mehra, objected to IOA's election as its constitution was not in sync with sports code, IOC Charter and law of the land on December 19. Though the court stalled the elections, it allowed the AGM to continue in New Delhi instead of Guwahati, with amending the constitution as agenda. According to the minutes of the meeting, it has been decided that the committee, after drafting the proposed amendments, would make a presentation to Srinivas before bringing it back to the house. The AGM has been "adjourned sine die to consider and vote on the proposed amendments to complete the same on or before 20.01.2022".

As reported by this newspaper, the IOA held its emergency Executive Council meeting before the AGM and had passed two resolutions. All legal affidavits and other legal documents should be processed with approval from the RK Anand, chair, legal committee, and was accepted by secretary general and approved unanimously. And in relation to financial issues and cheques among other things... those will be finalised in consultation with Batra. Apparently this was agreed by the secretary general and approved unanimously by the EC and later by the house.

Though the AGM seemed peaceful with both factions — Batra and Mehta — seemed unanimous with all the decisions. Bhanot's name seemed surprising to a few but senior IOA members feel his vast knowledge would help them in putting the constitution in order. Batra is the chairman of the committee and going by the names in the panel, it is equally represented by both factions.

No other agenda was discussed during the meeting. Confirmation and adoption of secretary general, considering and passing of the audited statement of account, appointment of auditors were some of the agenda fixed for AGM that have been deferred to the next AGM. If everything goes well, IOA members are hoping the decks will be cleared for elections by February/March.

All eyes will be on December 23, the next date of hearing when the decision would be presented to the court.

Loh & behold! Srikanth loses final

Former No 1 buries ghosts of last few seasons with Worlds silver, Handoyo's return promises second wind

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

KIDAMBI Srikanth began the year in Thailand, almost unsure of himself. There were too many questions and not many answers. His experiences at the Thailand Open — 2021's first event — did little to ease his mind. While undergoing a routine Covid test, a nasal swab left him with a bloodied nose. "Unacceptable," he had posted on Twitter. Over the next few months, he became increasingly desperate to pick up Olympic qualifying points but nothing worked. Whenever he took two steps forward, he would inadvertently go back four. The world, it seemed, was conspiring against him.

In that context, the last week has been magic, a balm that's reminded him of the good times. Sure, he didn't win the final of the World Championships on Sunday — Singapore's Loh Kean Yew emerged winner 21-15, 22-20 — but getting to that stage is a fair indication that he has taken adolescent steps to rediscovering his lost mojo. His net game and the jump smash, the two areas that propelled him to World No 1 territory in 2017, was visible in every game at Huelva. He's fit again and, more importantly, will get to train under Indonesia's Mulya Handoyo in the new year. Handoyo, who made Srikanth a machine in 2017 thanks to a variety of non-negotiables in areas like conditioning, has been reappointed by the Badminton Association of India (BAI).

And Handoyo would have liked Srikanth's approach against Loh Kean, who became the first Singaporean man to strike gold at the Worlds. What let Srikanth down wasn't so much technical as much cheap errors during big moments in both games. The first game was 21-15 but the Indian was leading 9-3. He had the jump smash working but allowed the 24-year-old back into the contest to close the gap to 11-8 at the first interval. The match was just seven minutes old and Srikanth, despite a physically tiring encounter against Lakshya Sen in the semis, was more than hanging in. But a clear shift in momentum meant Loh Kean raced ahead, partly thanks to the errors from Srikanth's racket. Thirteen apiece became 20-15 thanks to several unforced errors and there was no way back.

It was almost a similar story in the second as Srikanth took the early lead as the rallies began to stretch. The Indian won that point with a nicely-worked backhand crosscourt drop to open a 16-14 lead. That's when he let himself down; in an urgency to close out the game, he either found the net or shanked shots that ought to have been comfortable winners. Srikanth atoned for his errors by saving two championships points but two more errors handed the Singaporean the title.

If you were to see this as a glass half-empty scenario, Srikanth closes 2021 the way he started it: that title drought continues. But that's deeply uncharitable for somebody who became the first Indian man to win silver at the Worlds. The challenge now is to use this to set himself up for a big 2022. One thing, though, is certain. He's back.

Combinations aplenty in India's U-19 WC squad

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

SIX batters, two wicketkeepers, four spin-bowling all-rounders, three pace-bowling all-rounders and two quicks. This is the make up of the Indian team at the Under-19 World Cup in the Caribbean from January 14 to February 5. The junior selection panel on Sunday named a 17-member squad and five stand-byes for the tournament which India have won four times and have been runners-up thrice. The squad, to be led by Delhi's Yash Dhull, will leave for Dubai on Monday to take part in the Asia Cup before leaving for Guyana towards the end of the month.

With junior cricket coming to a standstill in the 2020/21 domestic season because of the pandemic, the junior selection panel led by S Sharath picked the squad purely on the basis of the performances in the Vinoo Mankad Trophy. The Challenger Trophy held subsequently helped the selectors prune down the pool to 30, and they were divided into two teams that featured in the triangular series with Bangladesh earlier this month. On an average each player who has been picked for the World Cup has featured in approximately a dozen games.

SQUAD: Yash Dhull (captain), Harnoor Singh, Angkrish Raghuvanshi, SK Rasheed (vice-captain), Nishant Sindhu, Siddarth Yadav, Aneeshwar Gautam, Dinesh Bana (wk), Aaradhya Yadav (wk), Raj Angad Bawa, Manav Parakh, Kaushal Tambe, RS Hangargekar, Vasu Vats, Vicky Ostwal, Ravikumar, Garv Sangwan. Standby players: Rishit Reddy, Uday Saharan, Ansh Gosai, Amrit Raj Upadhyay, PM Singh Rathore.

With the BCCI adopting a policy which ensures a player can take part in only one U-19 World Cup, Hyderabad's Tilak Verma and Jharkhand's Kumar Kushagra missed out. Rajasthan quick Salaudeen, who topped the wicket-taking charts in the Vinoo Mankad Trophy with 22 scalps in eight matches, will miss World Cup with a stress fracture.

Apart from having varied talent and depth, the squad also has a good combination thanks to multi-utility players. The presence of seven all-rounders means Dhull and head coach Hrishikesh Kanitkar can be flexible with the XI. Though they are short on match practice, the players go into the tournament with form behind them. Among the six batters, Andhra's SK Rasheed (805 runs overall) and Chandigarh's Harnoor Singh (802) are big hopes alongside Angkrish Raghuvanshi, Dhull, Siddharth Yadav, KS Tambe. While Haryana's Dinesh Bana (SR of 107.56, high score of 170) looks to be the front-choice wicketkeeper, UP's Aaradhya Yadav, by virtue of being a top-order bat, will also be contention.

Haryana's Nisthanth Sindhu (429 runs and 21 wickets), Karnataka's Aneeshwar Gautam (518 runs, 11 wickets), Maharashtra's Vicky Ostwal (307 runs, 11 wickets) and Tamil Nadu's Manav Parakh (154 runs, 21 wickets) are India's options for the spin-bowling all-rounder's spot. For seam-bowling all-rounder's spot, there is three-way competition between Haryana's Raj Angad Bawa (19 wickets, 290 runs), Maharashtra's RS Hangargekar (26 wickets, 244 runs) and Garv Sangwan (29 wickets, 155 runs). In Salaudeen's absence, UP's Vasu Vats (21 wickets) and Bengal's left-arm quick Ravi Kumar (17 wickets) are expected to be new ball options.

Bengaluru to meet in-form Jamshedpur in ISL

ASHIM SUNAM @ Bengaluru

BENGALURU FC have collected two points from their last six ISL matches this season.It is fair to say results have not gone according to plan under the new coach Marco Pezzaiuoli, who has his task cut out as the Blues face a confident Jamshedpur FC in Bambolim on Monday. The Men in Steel come into this game as a confident unit with two wins from their last three matches.

However, Bengaluru, who are tenth on the table, can take inspiration, if any, from their last game against ATK Mohun Bagan where they drew 3-3. They resembled a better unit as they pressed well in phases and looked a threat up front with Cleiton Silva and Prince Ibara combining well. It remains to be seen if Sunil Chhetri, who did not start the last game, will feature from the first minute against Jamshedpur.

Irrespective of the players Pezzaiuoli field on the pitch, Bengaluru will have to be compact at the back. They cannot afford to make mistakes with Jamshedpur comprising quality goal-scorers, including Nerijus Valskis and Greg Stewart, who scored a hat-trick in the last game. It is going to be a huge test for Bengaluru's defence with Jamshedpur having scored 13 goals so far.

"It's not only about defending, it's more about being good against the ball, as a team. Jamshedpur have a strong striker and we'll have to be at our best against them," Pezzaiuoli said in a virtual interaction on Sunday."They have a strong attack, and the most important thing is to be focused. We need to push together as a team to be focused."

Karnataka beat Rajasthan to secure quarterfinals berth

ASHIM SUNAM @ Bengluru

KARNATAKA came up with one of their best all-round shows in the prequarterfinals of the Vijay Hazare Trophy, defeating Rajasthan by eight wickets at KL Saini Stadium in Jaipur on Sunday. If pacer Vijaykumar Vyshak, who was playing his first game in the competition, scalped four big wickets, Ravikumar Samarth, Manish Pandey and KV Siddharth scored cruising half-centuries to help them set up a mouth-watering clash with Tamil Nadu in the last eight contest, scheduled for Tuesday.

It was a good toss to win for Karnataka, who opted to field first and also made a big change with Abhinav Manohar replacing Karun Nair. Karnataka key speedster Prasidh Krishna, who missed the earlier group matches due to international commitments, dismissed Abhijeet Tomar to give them an early breakthrough. But the major damage was done by Vyshak, who sparkled with the new ball, taking four wickets in his first four overs. With Rajasthan reeling on 19/5, one wondered if they would even cross the 100-run mark.

They needed someone to come up with a special knock, and that is when skipper Deepak Hooda stood up to be counted. The right-hander led from the front, and tried to steady the ship with a 118-run partnership with SV Joshi. In fact it looked like Hooda was batting in some other surface as he came up with a dominating display, hitting nine fours and five sixes en route to his 109-ball 100. They were eventually dismissed for 199 in the 42nd over.

Karnataka lost Devdutt Padikkal early on during the chase, which might have given Rajasthan a ray of hope, but that was the only bright spot for them in the second innings. In form Samarth and Siddharth looked in absolute control and with a modest target, they were always in the driver's seat. Samarth completed his third half-century of the competition before putting his team on track for a win.

With 100 runs to win after his dismissal, Pandey was going on at an almost run a ball and remained not out for 53-ball 52 while Siddharth was unbeaten on 85. With such a convincing win, they have sent a strong statement to their quarterfinal opponent, Tamil Nadu too.

Brief scores: Rajasthan 199 in 41.4 ovs (Deepak Jagbir Hooda 109, Vijaykumar Vyshak 4/22) lost to Karnataka 204/2 in 43.3 ovs ((KV Siddharth 85 n.o, R Samarth 54, Manish Pandey 52 n.o).

Man City beat Newcastle, top Christmas charts

AFP @ London

COVID-HIT Chelsea were held to a goalless draw by Wolves on Sunday after the Premier League rejected their request to postpone the game as Manchester City put struggling Newcastle to the sword. Just four games were left on the schedule this weekend out of the original 10 as Britain's worsening coronavirus crisis took its toll on the Premier League.

Clubs will meet on Monday to discuss what action to take, with growing questions over the integrity of the competition.

Stumbling Chelsea, who have struggled with illness and injuries in recent weeks, were only able to name four outfield players on the bench for their match at Molineux.

The visitors, who have now won just two of their past six league games, enjoyed the bulk of possession but mustered just one shot on target and are now six points behind leaders City. Meanwhile, City crushed Newcastle 4-0 to confirm their position at the top of the table at Christmas. Later, Liverpool were held 2-2 by Tottenham.

Results: PL: Newcastle 0-4 Man City, Wolves 0-0 Chelsea; Tottenham 2-2 Liverpool; La Liga: Sevilla 2-1 Atletico Madrid, Granada 4-1 Mallorca.

Rising shuttler Aditi seeking ranking boost

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

THE last few months have been enlightening for Aditi Bhatt, a gifted shuttler who's looking to establish herself at the top. After making her senior debut for India during the Sudirman Cup, she went on to show glimpses of her potential during the Uber Cup. With two wins during the group stages, she helped a new-look India team reach the quarterfinals. What was noteworthy was her spirited effort against an established star, Busanan Ongbamrungphan, who was World No 13 at the time.

After conceding the first game, she pocketed the second game before losing the third and the match. Needless to say, that was a massive lift for the youngster who trains at the Prakash Padukone Badminton Academy in Bengaluru.

"My first match Chen Yufei (Olympic champ, Sudirman Cup), I was very nervous because that was my first international tournament. I felt that many people was going to watch me on TV. It was nervy but I had nothing to lose and the overall output was good," Aditi, who is currently taking part in the BAI series senior meet in Chennai, recalls.

Locking horns with proven stars right from the orientation phase has naturally added to her developing mind. "Getting into the senior team was always a dream. But I never thought it would come very soon. It was a good boost for me as I'm trying to make a mark at the senior level. Playing against seniors was a big confidence-booster for me," the 18-year-old notes. Having gotten a glimpse of the level of competitiveness at the top, she is nonchalant about the ongoing meet, a platform she feels will just add to her confidence. After breezing into Round 3 on Sunday, she is just intent on gaining as much exposure as possible and improve her world rankings. "I'm trying to improve my world ranking by playing more tournaments, gain confidence and improve. These tournaments also give me confidence," said Aditi.

A positive show on the court has naturally raised the expectation levels. "I felt the pressure (Sudirman & Uber Cup). Sometimes it's overwhelming as people are continuously sending messages saying 'big fan, we want to see you do well.' But I don't think that affects me much on court. All I think about is improving my game," Aditi, who has multiple backers (TOPS Scheme, Khelo India & Reliance Foundation), says.

Originally from Ghaziabad, she was destined to pick up a sport as her family comes from a sporting background. Her father was into football and has played the Santosh Trophy while her brother has also played some level of football.

Europe faces 2020 rerun as curbs return

COVID

THE HAGUE: The Netherlands on Saturday announced a Christmas lockdown and London declared a "major incident" as Europe tries to rein in rising Covid-19 case numbers and the highly mutated Omicron strain takes hold. EU chief Ursula von der Leyen has warned that the Omicron variant could be dominant in Europe by mid-January.

Many countries are reimposing travel restrictions and other measures weeks after the variant was first detected in South Africa. Dutch Prime Minister Mark Rutte announced that all non-essential shops, cultural and entertainment venues must shut until January 14, while schools will close until at least January 9. The Dutch also face stricter limits on the number of guests allowed in their homes, though officials made an exception for Christmas Day. "To sum it up in one sentence, the Netherlands will go back into lockdown from tomorrow," Rutte told a televised press conference.

In London, mayor Sadiq Khan declared a "major incident" in the British capital, calling the case surge "hugely concerning". Britain registered record case numbers for three days in a row during the week, prompting new regulations and reports that another lockdown is being considered. Most of the new cases recorded in London are of the Omicron variant.

Germany's health agency meanwhile, announced it had put Britain on a list of high-risk Covid countries, which will mean tighter restrictions for travellers. The change, which comes into effect at the end of the day Sunday at midnight, means arrivals from Britain will have to observe a two-week quarantine regardless of whether they are vaccinated.

Germany has already designated France and Denmark as high-risk zones, imposing quarantines on unvaccinated travellers. In France, a scientific panel urged the government to impose "significant restrictions" on new year festivities, and the capital Paris announced "with regret" that it was cancelling all events on the Champs Elysees. Elsewhere in Europe, edgy governments are bringing back restrictions to fight the pandemic, which has killed at least 5,335,968 people.

PROVING HAWKING'S BLACK HOLE THEORY

SPACE

IN 1974, Stephen Hawking and his PhD student Bernard Carr proposed primordial black holes - hypothetical black holes that existed soon after the Big Bang - could be the elusive dark matter first theorized in 1933. Some 47 years later, the theory is getting proven. Astrophysics at Yale, the University of Miami and the European Space Agency tweaked the famed psychist's proposal and created a new model of how the early universe may have formed.

The new model shows that the first stars and galaxies would have formed around black holes, which had the ability to grow into supermassive black holes by feasting on gas and stars in their vicinity, or by merging with other black holes. "If most of the primordial black holes were 'born' at a size roughly 1.4 times the mass of Earth's sun, they could potentially account for all dark matter," said Yale professor of astronomy and physics Priyamvada Natarajan, the paper's theorist.

"Primordial black holes, if they do exist, could well be the seeds from which all supermassive black holes form, including the one at the center of the Milky Way," she continued. Many experts suggest about 85 percent of all the matter in the universe is dark matter – but for such a great amount, it has never been seen nor detected. Black holes have been observed and we even have a picture of one to prove their existence. Hawking and Carr argued that during the first moments of the Big Bang, which happened 13.8 billion years ago, 'lumpy' regions that had extra mass may have formed in the universe and turned into black holes when they collapsed. Their theory, however, did not catch on among the scientific community, but the new study shows that with a few modifications, Hawking may have been right.

CURTAIN CALL

Director, actor, and playwright Mahesh Dattani on his play Final Solutions and how theatre has always been a place of uncertainty for him

SANATH PRASAD

ALTHOUGH India and Pakistan underwent through the horrific and bloody partition in 1947, the aftermath of the event leaves a pang even today. From hatred to stereotypes and religious conflicts to communalism, the emotions run high between the two communities. This is what Mahesh Dattani seeks to explore in his play Final Solutions, which was written in the late '80s.

Bengaluru-based theatre group Alchemy Theatre Society performed the last show of Final Solutions at Jagriti Theatre on Sunday to throw light on the different shades of the communalist attitude between two communities. Written by Dattani, the story is a result of his interaction and observations on the riots in Ahmedabad.

"I wrote this play in the late '80s at the request of my mentor and theatre personality Alyque Padamsee. The story is a result of several interviews with people who experienced riots in Ahmedabad, and also personal stories of Muslims and Hindus who helped save people during riots. The narrative by the young bride in the story was inspired by my mother's stories of her childhood in Jamnagar," says Dattani.

While it may have been a hit here, the story faced many obstacles over the years. According to Dattani, the first show in 1991 was cancelled due to the "incident" in Ayodhya. "After 1991, it actually took two more years for the play to be staged in Bengaluru which was being organised by an NGO. In fact, Padamsee produced the play in Bombay and toured with it to all the major cities. However, there has been no criticism of the play's political content," says Dattani, who went on to receive the Sahitya Akademi Award for Final Solutions.

Theatre showed me a world of possibilities where stories are re-written or created afresh, where there is a direct interaction with audiences, and I am free to express the human condition as I experience it

Mahesh Dattani, writer

Dattani's journey with theatre started at an early age of 12. His ambition to pursue it more seriously grew only when he joined a theatre group in Bengaluru. "I was always fascinated by the world of theatre after seeing a play for the first time when I was 12. Many years later, I joined an amateur theatre group called Bangalore Little Theatre," he says.

"Theatre showed me a world of possibilities where stories are re-written or created afresh, where there is a direct interaction with audiences, and I am free to express and explore the human condition as I experience it and observe it around me," says Dattani, who also started his own theatre company called Playpen in the '80s.

Dattani has also worked on plays like Dance Like A Man, Thirty Days in September, Big Fat City. The story behind many of these plays has been inspired by Dattani's view of the world and how people respond to certain emotions in their own unique way.

"There are multiple perspectives to a story. The more I write, the greater the inadequacy to fully explore all perspectives. We are bonded through timeless and universal human concerns and yet each one of us is so unique. What makes us unique is how we see the world and our responses to it. That is what makes every story so unique," says Dattani.

Describing his journey as a theatre personality, he says that his career was filled with uncertainty.

"I don't think I ever wanted to do anything else apart from theatre. It hasn't always been easy and there is always the insecurity of what the future will hold. Success or sustenance is not guaranteed. I have been praised and criticised for my works. Through the years, I have taken both in my stride," says Dattani.

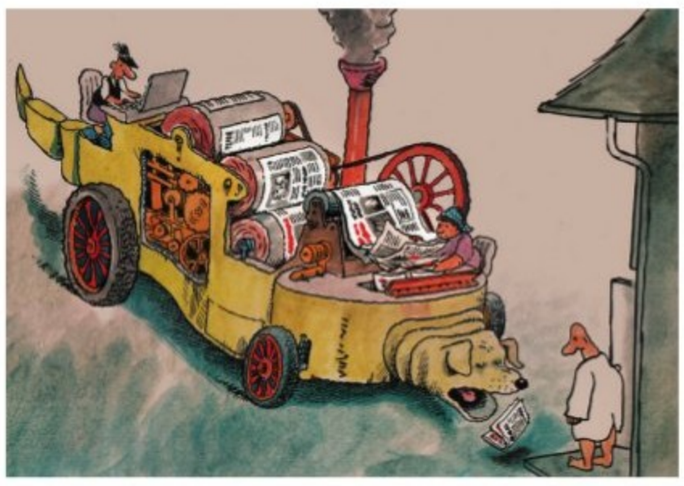
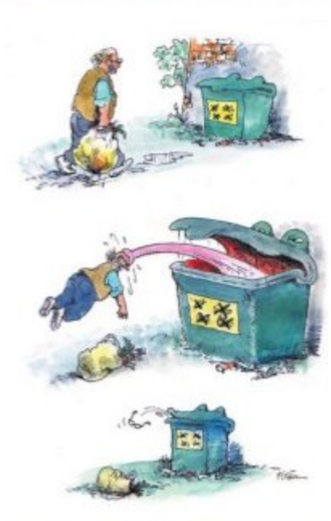
Collector's drawings

Austrian cartoonist Klaus Pitter, who designs children's comic, has displayed his work at the Indian Institute of Cartoonists





MONIKA MONALISA

THE cartoons for children have always been full of wit, fun colours and something that will remain in their minds for a while. Klaus Pitter's work is filled with it. This Austrian cartoonist's work has not just touched many children's hearts but has also impacted adults. His work is currently displayed at Indian Institute of Cartoonists.

While many have their set idea on how different the illustration for children and adults are supposed to be, Pitter believes there should not be so much difference. "Children nowadays are mature enough to understand drawings that are produced for an older audience. On the other hand, I am not a fan of the noisy, hectic style you can see in many animated cartoons. I think they have no good influence on children," says Pitter. According to him, one has to be really careful with children's comics as it's not a good idea to create the "impression that everything is possible within no time as it's found in many children's programmes".

Born in a village in Upper Austria, Pitter was fond of drawing since his childhood. However, he developed the interest only around the age of 15. Apart from magazines, he has illustrated and designed books for young people on environmental protection and a series of schoolbooks. Speaking about his process on how to go about an idea, he says, "Sometimes I have a rough idea of how the story could go on or end, but there is always room for unexpected turns. But now, I mostly work on comic books based on literary material. A friend of mine is doing the rhymes and I will be doing the drawing. The idea is also to bring the stories on stage — with actors, music and video projections. Through this, we might create interest among the public who are much more used to animated stories and the digital world than we have ever been," he explains.

Having been in the profession for all his life, Pitter is quite frank about how lucrative this career could be. "If you work as a freelance artist, your income will fluctuate...there will be good days, like when when somebody is publishing your works frequently, and then there may be hard days too. It is better to work in a variety of graphic sectors, so you won't be dependent on just one," says the 74-year-old cartoonist.

Although Pitter's works have been exhibited across Europe, this is the first time it has come to India. Nevertheless, he is well-aware and is fond of the works by Indian artists too. "I know some Indian artists from Instagram and Facebook, such as RK Laxmann. Mario Miranda, Kishor Shitole and Cheepuru Kiran Kumar. Personally, I know Shankar Pamarthy. We met at a cartoon festival in Teheran, Iran. His portrait caricatures are very imaginative and masterly drawn," says Pitter.

Witty World by cartoonist Klaus Pitter will be displayed at Indian Institute of Cartoonists till December 25.

Ganapati Hedge's latest artwork, Into The Forest, represents the pandemic and celebrates nature using birds and animals

TALKING ART

SANATH PRASAD

THE pandemic may have pushed many to learn something new but artiste Ganapati Hegde used his time to observe and reflect on the lifestyle it created using art. His new collection of paintings called 'Into The Forest' is now live on the website of art gallery Kynkyny.

Born in Kumta, Uttara Kannada, Hegde grew up with the Western Ghats around his region. Perhaps that's where his yearning for expressing the beauty of biodiversity comes from. This has now taken shape in his new art collections.

'Into The Forest' is a blend of Hegde's admiration for biodiversity and his observation during the lockdown in 2020 and 2021. From a frog logging on to online classes to an owl wrapped in a shawl, the meanings of these artworks are voluminous. His works depict a riot of colours and a cacophony of the wilderness. It also reveals how humans can make the environment conducive for different species of animals to live and mate.

In one of his paintings titled 'Tree of Life from Life in Nature', he documents how different the life cycles of different animals and birds are interlinked and whose existence is a major source of sustaining biodiversity. The art collection is a combination of canvas painting and sketches. Hegde has predominantly used acrylic and oil colours for canvas painting, while he has used handmade paper, ink pen, pencils for detailing in the sketches.

Into The Forest is a result of my year-long journey and admiration for nature. The very thought of diverse species of flora and fauna inhabiting different terrains is just fascinating. The lockdown gave me time to reflect on many aspects of nature that I wanted to express through my artwork. Some of these works also address the problem of the climate crisis that is impacting the existence of many birds and animals and at the same time is linked to the celebration of the nature around us," says Hegde.

Interestingly, his artwork titled 'Pulmonary Wings' is a symbolic representation of the lungs in a human body through the wings of a dragonfly. "Covid-19 has a direct impact on our lungs. Hence, I wanted to address this fact through art by using the wings of the dragonflies and drawing it upside down, so that it looks like our lungs. This is because the pulmonary veins actually flow through our lungs and I felt it was my responsibility to create awareness around the same during the pandemic through my work," says Hegde.

> Art derives its core value and meaning only when it is in tune with the real world. This is why I ensure my work always holds relevance to contemporary themes that are shaping us today —Ganapati Hegde, artist

His sketch work includes portrait pictures of birds and animals wrapped up in a shawl. This is yet another representation of how shawls are used during special occasions to honour and express gratitude to individuals. "I felt that shawls used during events as a mark of respect to honour people must also hold true for our birds and animals. I wanted to depict this using sketching and adding intricate details to the designs of the shawl," says Hegde, who has also painted pictures of a frog logging onto the computer as symbolism to online learning.

"Art derives its core value and meaning only when it is in tune with the real world. This is why I ensure my work always holds relevance to contemporary themes that are shaping us today," adds Hegde.

Hegde's artwork can be viewed and purchased on Kynkyny's website. It will be available till Dec 31.

THE looks that were

(The author is social media influencer @loftyspectrums and lifestyle coach)

WHETHER it is trying out new skin care routines or make-up looks fresh off the international runway, jumping on the bandwagon of the newest trends keeps us going. Of course, the no-make-up look is here to stay yet it is so much of fun using your creativity and painting the town red with some glam diva looks. Let us take a look at a whole list of trends out there that made 2021 feel inspired and colourful. If you are a makeup enthusiast, you might have tried a few of these. Just in case you haven't, this is the ultimate roundup of trends that you must try for this Christmas and New Year's parties.

We all drooled over Kendall Jenner's Met Gala make up with hint of metallic and silvers from her cheek bones to lips and skin so let us rock the rest of the year with these looks.

Y2K Fever

Y2K is an aesthetic that was prevalent in popular culture from roughly 1995 to 2004. Now, it has come back with a modern spin with frosty eyeshadows, ombré lips, and butterfly clips of yore. It has made such a big impact amongst beauty enthusiasts on social media that we can't help but hop on this trend ourselves this winter.

Moj creator Joyita Dey describes this trend as a stylistic trend covering the late '90s and early-to-mid 2000s styles. "Anyone representing the Y2K aesthetic generally has a marginally retro edge, however, with an advanced touch. When I think of it, I imagine gleaming fabrics, chunky stylish tennis shoes, creased skirts, roll bags, wide-leg pants, and colourful shades."

Burst of Colours

You must have seen makeup gurus and celebrities experiment with 'pop colours and dot' looks motivating us to bring the Picasso in us alive. This works especially well in winters to add a little bit of oomph as we bundle up in our trenches and turtlenecks. If you've not picked up your brush yet, do so and experiment because this is a trend which completely changes the definition of your facial features and who doesn't enjoy a little colour every now and then.

Face Embellishments

'Diamonds are a girl's best friend' is at a whole new level. 2021 has brought us make-up embellishments in the form of stones and glitter. These uber cool looks have led us to paste rhinestones on different parts of one's face/neck or over the eye that are sure to capture attention. So it is stepping up and raising the bar even in terms of creativity. It is also so much fun experimenting with different looks.

The Sci-Fi Metallic Look

It has been a tough year for all of us. Dazed and glammed is surely the way ahead; and of course, we saw it coming when highlighters became the new blush and bronzers became a must have. We saw a variety of products in metallic formats with eye-shadows, nail varnish and lipsticks.

Well, this is a round up of makeup trends for the year 2021 and let's begin the next year with a dash of gusto and loads of makeup.

Meet the entrepreneur who bagged the Guinness World Record for memorising the most three-digit flash numbers

In memory he achieves

ANILA KURIAN

TO be able to able to memorise something and retrieve it on demand is not an easy task for many. But it's quite simple for Mohammed Ali Athar Ahmed, founder of Fuel4Success, who made it to the Guinness World Records for memorising 32 three-digit flash numbers.

Trained in memory techniques and also sharing that knowledge with others is Ahmed's forte. Speaking to CE, he says, "I believe in parallel education and teaching people what they haven't been taught in school. The education system teaches one to by-heart and perhaps understand but not focus on how to retrieve it and use it when beneficial."

Ahmed has had the dream to make it to the Guinness World Records for a while now. In fact, he wanted to do it before the pandemic. "But during the time, like many others, I too went into a dark space with anxiety and various other negative emotions. Depression really took over me so I really wanted to do something that will take me out of that space" he explains.

He started bettering the accelerated learning, practised more techniques that he's been professional teaching, and on October 18, he attempted for the record and broke the record of Iranian Morteza Javidahmadabadi, who held the previous record for the most three-digit 30 flash numbers memorised. "I got the certificate after about a month and now I'm officially in the records," he adds proudly.

So, what exactly is accelerated learning? Ahmed answers, "For example, professionals and students have grown up learning things a certain. 95 per cent of the people don't get the results they aimed for. It's not because they don't have the potential but they aren't able to hit the brief like it's meant to be learnt."

He further adds that there are three steps to learning. "The first is understanding the matter — not just to by-heart it but to truly understand the concept behind it. Next is to store the information which requires a strategy so that in the final step, you can retire it on demand. This way, you will have super-fast memory, concentration power and mental strength," he adds.

Ahmed is also the author of Hidden Secrets Of The Topper's Mind which is about discovering the psychology of scoring high grades and becoming a successful student, year after year.

"I not only work with students but also professionals which include top CEOs and top management people. I feel it's important to look beyond the traditional education system and better our minds," says Ahmed.

KICHCHA SUDEEP
RECALLS HIS FANBOY MOMENT WITH CRICKET LEGEND KAPIL DEV

CE FEATURES

TWEETING a picture with legendary cricketer Kapil Dev, Sudeep wrote, "A pic I waited for almost 36 odd years. Thank you Kapil sir for making it happen. Epitome of humility, (sic)."

Sudeep is joining hands with Reliance Entertainment to present the Kannada version of the much-awaited film, 83. "Even though I am not among the 11 players, I consider myself as a substitute. I love the game of cricket. I've not only watched it up close but played it too. I am proud to present the film in Kannada," said Sudeep at the promotional event held in Bengaluru on Saturday. It was an emotional moment for the multifaceted pan-India actor to share the stage along with legendary cricketers – Kapil Dev, Krishnamachari Srikkanth, Roger Binnny, and Syed Kirmani, along with the two heroes -- director Kabir Khan and actor Ranveer Singh and producers of 83. Talking to the media, Sudeep shared with us his fanboy moment with cricketer Kapil Dev when he happened to meet him in Bengaluru, years ago. "It was in the year 1987 or 88. We had the cricket team coming to Bangalore, and they had stayed at the Westend Hotel. Being a big fan of cricket, I was so eager to meet them that I had worn two different shoes. I was young when I met Kapil sir, and I mustered the guts to request him for a photo, and he obliged. I had my sister taking the picture in a fuji camera. To my bad luck, the camera did not work. I was emotional and was in tears, and when he had mentioned, 'we will take a picture'. Finally, that photo op happened today."

Ranveer Singh, who will be seen stepping into the shoes of Kapil Dev, said, "1983 World cup was one of the glorious achievements that changed everything for us as a nation. It is extremely rewarding to be part of 83, and something I will cherish for the rest of my life."

Cricketer Kapil Dev, who wished the team said, "Whatever we did, we have forgotten and Kabir Khan is bringing back the memories. My team and I are delighted to witness something we never expected. This movie will do well, and we are keeping our fingers crossed. We hope to relive those moments and enjoy watching the film."

The Kannada version of 83 is a Shalini Artss and Reliance Entertainment venture, and is slated for a Christmas release.

KANNADIGA
SHOWCASES THE LOVE OF OUR MOTHER TONGUE

A SHARADHAA

SEEING lesser-known facts of history being translated on screen always makes for an interesting watch. And the latest addition to this list is the Zee5 period drama, Kannadiga. The film, which begins with the phrase 'Siriganadam Gelge', is a tribute to the generations of writers, who dedicated their lives to preserving the Kannada script, its richness, and culture. The director aims to trace the journey of such writers, and imbibe that knowledge to the present generation.

The initial few episodes take place in the 16th century, and we are introduced to the world of Samanthabhadra, who sheds sweat and blood for the Kannada land. On the instructions of Queen Chenna Bhairadevi of the Saluva Dynasty, (also known as Pepper Queen by the Portuguese), Samanthabhadra dedicates the rest of his life to serving Kannada.

Next, we are shown the third generation of this family, and here the focus is on Gunabhadra, the eighth descendant. He is trying to claim the ancestral property given by the Queen to Samanthbhadra to build a university and a temple to preserve Kannada and its culture. He learns that the land was bought by German Ferdinand Kittel, who has a fondness for the Kannada language seeks help from Gunabhadra. The duo comes together and works on the research and documentation. The rest of the story tells us the kind of obstacles Gunabhadra faces in his personal life and the sacrifices he goes through in materialising his dream and fulfilling his mission. The film also highlights caste pride and politics, which makes it relevant even today. Coming from the award-winning director Giriraj, it is obvious that a ton of research has gone into the subject, and he has tried to bring out deep facts in cinematic terms. However, the film does come with its flaws. One, it is too melodramatic, and two, it has a long running time. The main attraction of Kannadiga is Ravichandran's performance, and both as Gunabhadra and Samanthabhadra, we are sure to forget the regular flamboyance associated with the Crazy Star. Wonder, why none of the filmmakers got this impression about Ravichandran till Giriraj did. Kannadiga has Ravichandran shouldering a lot of responsibilities, and it will not be a surprise if Ravichandran fetches some awards for his performance.

RATING 3/5

The film, featuring limited actors has good participation coming from them. From Paavana Gowda as Gunabhadra's wife, Jayashree as the daughter, and Jamie Alter's Ferdinand Kittel, and Jagadish, all actors justify their roles. They are also ably supported by Achyuth Kumar, Brahmanda Guruji, and Balaji Manohar, who play pivotal characters. Rockline Venkatesh makes a strong presence in his short, yet important role. The title track Siriganadam Elge sung by Shivarajkumar will remain close to people's hearts.

If Kannada language is thriving even today, it is all because of the sacrifices made by the scriptwriters in the past, who have managed to preserve the Kannada work, and culture for generations now. And Kannadiga is an important documentation that showcases the love of our mother tongue.
